3.00 p. m.—Final rounds in rough-riding competition.
3.30 p. m.—Final heat in the klotchen races.
8.00 p. m.—Band concert in the main building.

Even the optimistic officials of the Victoria fair had not expected what occurred yesterday. So great was the crowd that it was with the greatest difficulty that they were handled both by the tramway company and the gate-men at the show. Ten thousand three hundred and sixteen people passed through the gates besides those who were attendants or exhibitors. This puts the association a thousand dollars more to the good over the takings of last year. The grand stand, although considerably enlarged since last year, was packed to overflowing and the race track was surrounded by eager watchers.

The weather conditions were perfect. The morning was dull and at one time it looked doubtful whether it would clear up or rain; but at noon the rays of old Sol burst through the clouds and the fast of the day and of the exhibition as a whole was fairly decided. Beginning at about lunch time, the cars in groups of three and four every few minutes carried the holiday-keepers to their destination. Large numbers of them remained there for the evening meal so that there was scarcely a bun or a slice of bread left in any of the restaurants or tents.

Not only were the crowds watching the races and the broncho riding, but large numbers spent their time in examining the indoor exhibits and the comments heard on every side were most favorable to the management of the show and also to the growers. The fruit exhibit particularly attracted the attention of the outside visitors who had come to learn about the district. The commercial display of Rockside Orchard, which won first prize,

EYES ON VICTORIA.

A. B. Ellis Says Residents of United States Are Looking to Residence Here.

A. B. Ellis, of this city, has returned from a tour among the cities of the eastern and middle States. He noticed while in St. Paul, St. Louis and all other parts of the area visited, that the attention of the residents was all directed to the prairie sections of Canada and the Pacific coast. These were the parts which all were looking to as the place to reside.

By the Pacific coast, Mr. Ellis says Portland, Seattle and Victoria are understood. These are the centres which the residents of the middle and eastern States now regard as the chief places of residence.

There is no doubt that there will be a large influx for some time to come to the prairies and the Pacific coast, including Victoria.

Mr. Ellis noted the splendid advertisement which Oregon fruit is obtaining in the east. Apples from the Hood River district are everywhere on sale. These Oregon apples are being shipped to New York at $3.45 a box for winter varieties.

LIPTON AND THE AMERICA CUP

HOPES TO ENTER FOR RACE NEXT YEAR

Anxious to Meet Wishes of New York Club Regarding Size of Yacht.

London, Sept. 26.—Sir Thomas Lipton was interviewed to-night after he had learned the reasons why his challenge to race for the America cup had been declined by the New York club, and spoke as follows:

"I still have plenty of time to issue another challenge, but it depends upon what I am advised to do. Mr. Fife is coming especially to consult with me on the situation.

"I know the New York Yacht Club feels its responsibility, and I am quite willing to abide by its decision, as the club certainly understands its business better than any one else. I cannot help hoping that the existing difficulty may be overcome, and that a race will occur in 1908. I will do everything in my power that is possible to meet the wishes of our American friends. I am willing to consider most favorably the idea of challenging with a 90-foot boat if that will be received under the condition existing in the New York Yacht Club, and if Mr. Fife can design a boat which will give me a reasonable prospect of success, and although such a boat might have to be constructed as a freak boat, even then I would only be pleased to do it."

Members Retire.

New York, Sept. 26.—Prospects for America cup next year were greatly improved to-day by the announcement of Sir Thomas Lipton that he will submit another challenge specifying a 90-foot boat, as the representative of the Royal Yacht Club.

Members of the New York Yacht Club were reticent as to the action that would be taken by that organization in response to an amended challenge, but it was pointed out that the deed of gift, by which the America cup was placed in the custody of the New York Yacht Club to accept the challenge, provided certain conditions are complied with. The deed of gift specified that any foreign yacht club "shall always be entitled to the right of sailing a match for this (America cup)."

It is also set forth that the competing yachts, if of one mast, "shall not be less than 65 feet, nor more than 90 feet on the low water line." Then it is further set forth that the challenge club shall give ten months' notice, that this notice must be accompanied by a certificate of the name and right of the challenging vessel, and the vessel's length on load water line, beam at load water line, extreme beam and draught of water. A further clause provides that the courses for the races shall be sailed subject to its rules and sailing regulations so far as the same do not conflict with the provisions of the deed of gift, but without any time allowance whatever.

Commodore Baum's Views.
Chicago, Sept. 26.—The yachtsmen of this city are strongly in favor of seeing the participants in the races for the America cup, something besides mere racing machines. Commodore W. L. Baum, of the Chicago Yacht Club, said the New York Yacht Club was entirely within its rights in taking the action it did. "At the same time, however, I think the majority of the yachtsmen of this vicinity would very much like to see the cup contested for boats such as are in every day use, and not mere racing machines that are constructed solely for the purpose of a contest and then are broken up," he said.

Supports Lipton.
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 26.—"I believe Sir Thomas Lipton is right in his contention," said Commodore E. B. Mallory, of the Milwaukee Yacht Club. "The demands of the New York Yacht Club are neither fair nor sportsmanlike. It wants to build a mere shell, while Sir Thomas must build a boat which can cross the ocean under its own sail and which must inevitably be heavier and consequently slower than the shell boats."

ENDEAVORERS IN CONVENTION

SUBJECTS DEALT WITH THIS MORNING

An Enthusiastic Gathering of Christian Young People Discuss Methods of Work

The Provincial Christian Endeavor convention is now in full progress. This morning the delegates gathered in the Metropolitan Methodist church. There was a goodly attendance of delegates at the session which opened at 9 o'clock this morning, and the interest in the proceedings was keen from first to last.

It was appropriate that the first address should be upon "The Value of the Quiet Hour and How to Pre-empt It." This was presented by the Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B. A., of New

Chairman of the International C. E. Convention.

Westminster. The quiet hour, he explained, was that part of the day which the consecrated soul set apart for quiet meditation and prayer. They could only secure spiritual strength and discernment by personal communion with God. The great and good men of old were accustomed to spend hours of intercourse with God. Nothing could take the place of this quiet waiting upon God. Prayer and the study of the word of God were just as essential to the growth and maintenance of spiritual strength as food and sleep were to the growth of the body. Prayer seemed to be one of the lost arts. Prayer was more than asking something of God. It was more than mere repetition of words, it was the "soul's sincere desire, uttered or un-pressed." They needed to get into the presence of God and to feel the hallowing touch of God's own hand. How should they pre-empt the value of the quiet hour? There were many difficulties in the way, but use should be made of the first hour of the morning. Rise a little earlier than usual, and the benefit derived from the quiet communion would be manifest. In making the programme for the day they must not forget to make an engagement with God.

The address made a profound impression upon the convention and the devotional spirit was very evident.

Mr. Clyde E. Van der Maaten, of Louisville, Kentucky, ex-field secretary of the state of Kentucky, delivered an address, "The Christian Endeavor Movement." He spoke as one who knew the work. His address was strong and full of interest.

ed States and Canada, but into all parts of the world. He said: "The Endeavor Society is found in city and country, in the north and south, in the jungles of India, in the ancient walled cities of Brazil, on the slopes of the Andes as well as the Rockies, among the Alps of Switzerland, on the shores of Australia and the multitude of islands that dot the south sea, in the East Indies and West Indies, on the banks of the Mississippi, the Congo, the Danube, the La Plata, in every continent and in every clime the Christian Endeavor is found. In fact this movement has gripped the globe with its influence and its power."

Mr. Van der Maaten said that the Endeavor Society had never seen a brighter day since the society was organized. It had gotten down to business and was doing excellent work.

The next speaker was Rev. J. A. Doyle, field secretary for the League and Sunday schools for the Methodist church, who spoke on the topic, "The Relation of the Christian Endeavor to the Sunday School." The crucial point was found in the question, "What is my personal relation to the Sunday school as a Christian Endeavorer?" (Continued on page 2).

VIOLATIONS OF INTERSTATE LAW

RAILWAY AND STEAMSHIP COMPANIES INVOLVED

Alleged to Have Made Lower Rates Than Published Tariff on Trans-Pacific Shipments

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—According to a report in circulation six indictments were found yesterday by the federal grand jury against the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and Southern Pacific Company. In these indictments the names of Ed. H. Harriman, John C. Stubs and R. P. Scherwin, it is understood, are mentioned. The indictments embrace 540 counts, and relate particularly to violations of the law on shipments from the Orient through the port of Frisco to Chicago.

The particular instance in which the law is said to have been violated related to the shipment of matting from Kobe to Chicago, these shipments being very heavy and numerous during a number of months of the year.

Special agent of the interstate commission, Mr. Duncan, has been on the Pacific coast for several months, and also in Japan, investigating these shipments, and how the Pacific Mail and Southern Pacific have been making rates lower than the published tariff on them at various times. It is the making of a lower rate than the published tariff on which indictments have been based.

Southern Pacific officials admitted last night, prior to the enforcement of the new rate law, they had not been strictly living up to the three-day notice provision of the old law, because of the impossibility of doing so and retaining their share of Oriental shipments to this country in competition with foreign lines. They insisted, however, that since the new law has come into effect they have not made any lower rate than the published one, and have not violated the law for two reasons—first, the rates have been steady in the Orient and there has been no necessity for making rates other than those in the published tariff; second, that as the commission now has power to dispense with the 30 days' notice where an emergency rate is necessary, all the carrier has to do now is to lay the matter before the commission and get it to authorize a lower rate, because of its dispensing power.

It is expected that indictments will be filed in open court when the federal grand jury meets this morning. This, it is claimed, is the first time in the history of trans-Pacific traffic through this port that a grand jury has ever made indictments for violations of the interstate law.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE.
Delegates From Various States Attend Conference in New York.

New York, Sept. 27.—Delegates from numerous States are here for the convention of the Independent League looking to the harmonization of the actions of branches of the league in various states and the inauguration of a national movement for the advancement of the league's principles. The delegates are quartered at the Milsey House. The conference will begin to-day at the Carnegie hall. Prior to the meeting, delegates will hold an informal meeting at the Milsey House.

UNION-LABOR TICKET.

Candidates Suggested By Former Mayor Schmitz Nominated at Convention at Frisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The Union Labor city and county convention last night nominated the following party ticket and adjourned to the call of the chair for its completion. The programme of former Mayor Eugene Schmitz was carried out to the letter: Nominated—For mayor, P. H. McCarthy, president of the building trades council; sheriff, Thos. O'Neill, the present incumbent; city and county clerk, Harry L. Mulvey, incumbent; city and county recorder, John Nelson, incumbent.

E. & N. ACQUIRING TERMINAL ROOM

Negotiations Now in Progress to Purchase
Albion Iron Works Expected to Result in Sale of Property

R. Marpole, executive agent, and W. F. Salsbury, secretary of the Canadian Pacific railway, are in the city to-day representing their company in negotiations which are going on for the purchase of the Albion Iron Works property on Store street.

The acquisition of this property is contemplated, as an initial step at least, towards the extension of terminal facilities in this city, the need of additional accommodation to meet a constantly growing traffic on the E. & N., it having manifested itself of late to the great inconvenience of merchants and others looking to the railway for transportation of commodities.

It is said that plans for the utilization of this ground are now in course of preparation at the railway offices in Vancouver, and it is believed that considerable relief will be given to the situation from the shippers' point of view, if the necessity of further accommodation is not completely met by the absorption of this additional yard room by the railway company.

For several hours this morning, Mr. Marpole was in consultation with parties representing the owners of the property, and although the deed of sale has not yet been signed, it is expected that the deal will be closed before the day is out, the only difference being that of a small figure in the purchase price, which will approximate about $75,000.

As is well known the Albion Iron Works land is located on Store street. At the present time it is partially occupied by the buildings used by the company in the prosecution of the iron working trade. It is also stocked with considerable machinery and material which will either be sold here or removed to the establishment of the company at Vancouver. The property comprises eighteen full sized lots or something like three acres, and is capable of yielding quite an appreciable service to the purposes of the company in extending their freight handling capacity.

Although it has not yet been developed it is said that the railway people have some additional purchases of land in prospect, with a view of building up sufficient housing room for the large expansion of traffic which is looked for in Victoria as a result of the general development in various parts of the island and the extension of the railway system to open up new and unexploited sources of commerce.

It is said that the work of putting the eight acres of ground in shape for the reception of the railway works will be begun in the near future, after the deal is finally closed.

SULTAN'S TROOPS DEFEATED.

Battle Lasted a Day and a Half—Rebels Cut off Heads of Twenty-Eight Soldiers.

Mellila, Morocco, Sept. 27.—Moorsish rebels, numbering about 3,000 men, have defeated a force of imperial troops in a battle which lasted a day and a half.

The rebels cut off the heads of 28 of the Sultan's soldiers as trophies of their victory and drove 200 prisoners in the direction of Seulana.

ULTIMATUM TO SHAH.

High Officials and Army Commanders Will Resign if Demands Are Refused.

Teheran, Persia, Sept. 27.—A document signed by high officials and commanders of the army has been presented to the Shah to the effect that unless the sovereign accepts without reserve and will act according to the demands of a constitutional government they will resign in a body from his service.

TWENTY-EIGHT GREEKS KILLED AND INJURED

Fatal Collision on Southern Pacific Road—Trainmen Attacked by Comrades of Victims.

Bakersfield, Cal., Sept. 27.—Eight Greeks were killed and 20 injured by the wreck of a Southern Pacific work train which collided with a freight near the entrance to the tunnel, 17 miles west of Tehachapi, last night.

The crews of the trains are still fugitives, hiding in the hills to save themselves from enraged comrades of the victims who attacked the trainmen after the accident, and threatened the destruction of much railroad property. A special with 20 armed men on board has been dispatched to rescue the beleaguered trainmen and the relief of the wounded.

There were about 50 Greeks upon the car that was demolished.

MANY PERSONS LOST THEIR LIVES IN FIRE

Hundreds of Houses and Boats Destroyed—The Work of Incendiarists.

Hongkong, Sept. 27.—Hundreds of houses and many boats were destroyed to-day by a fire of Wuchow.

It is feared the loss of life was heavy. The conflagration is said to be due to incendiarism, growing out of the recent establishment of a new interior customs station at Wuchow; the inhabitants of which are bitterly opposed to any extra taxation.

Nearly half of the railroad mileage of the world is in the United States.

THE INQUIRY INTO BEEF INDUSTRY

COMMISSIONERS ARE PREPARING REPORTS

It Will Not Be Necessary to Take Evidence Outside of Canada

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—Alexander A. Campbell, of Argyle, Man., chairman of the beef commission, says that he will soon have his report finished on the meat investigation. Alexander Middleton, of Coleridge, Alb., the other commissioner, and Mr. Campbell are preparing joint reports for their respective governments, and it is not expected, as was suggested by an Edmonton, Alb., dispatch, that the commissioners will require to go outside this jurisdiction to further pursue their inquiries. Mr. Campbell is of the opinion it would be much too costly, and in view of the fact that English exporters had been examined here in connection with the trade, the commissioners are of the opinion that they have ample evidence on which to report.

SENATOR BORAH'S TRIAL.

Witnesses Admit Taking Up Claims
for Purpose of Selling Them to Alleged Conspirators.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 27.—After having spent all the previous day in bringing out testimony of thirteen persons who admitted they had taken out claims to timber lands for the express purpose of selling them to members of the alleged land grabbing conspiracy, the government attorneys in the trial of United States Senator Borah yesterday turned the line of evidence into new channels which they claim will tend to affect the defendant's attorney. The testimony produced up to Thursday had been confined to the activity of John L. Wells and Louis M. Pritchard, two of the men under indictment. The dummy entries examined on Wednesday were not cross-examined and testimony that they received from Wells, the money with which to prove their claims and from Pritchard the $250 bonus for surrendering their titles went uncontradicted. Just prior to adjournment, the prosecution identified the signature of Former Governor Steunenberg and Wm. Sweet to a document said to have been a contract. It is alleged Steunenberg and Sweet jointly furnished the money with which the first alleged fraudulent transactions were carried on.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION.

Three Men Meet Death While Drawing Oil From a Tank.

New York, Sept. 27.—Three men were instantly killed to-day by the explosion of an oil tank in the Bronx, from which they were drawing crude petroleum into a sprinkling cart for use on the Morris park race track, where a 14-hour automobile race is to begin this evening. It is supposed that a lantern carried by one of the men ignited some loose oil from the tank.

JURY ACQUITS TRAIN CONDUCTOR

WAS TRIED ON THE CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

True Bill for Criminal Negligence
Against Dispatcher—Schooner
Wrecked on Eastern Coast

Whitby, Ont., Sept. 26.—Conductor Cook, of the C. P. R., tried for manslaughter as the result of a head-on collision at Myrtle last March, when two lives were lost, was acquitted by the jury last night. The grand jury before being discharged, returned a true bill for criminal negligence against train dispatcher Wilkinson for the same wreck.

Reply to Railway Men.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—Replying to a deputation of railway men who yesterday protested against the attorney-general's department prosecuting railway men held responsible by coroners' juries for accidents, Hon. Mr. Foy said the province did not make criminal laws, but merely administered them. The Crown counsel would not be eager to convict, but to bring out facts. The cases should be fairly dealt with, and if it were necessary to emphasize on the Crown counsel these facts, Mr. Foy would have it done. The Crown counsel, he said, should defend as well as prosecute.

The Civil Service.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—Deputations from various branches of the inland revenue service waited upon the civil service commission this morning asking for a general increase of 13-15 on salaries, also that supernumeraries be granted. The suggestion was also advanced that while under the present system political appointments to service would be made, friction might be avoided by a consultation between those who have patronage and the collectors who would have to deal with such officers after appointments are made.

Winding Up Order.

Toronto, Sept. 26.—A winding up order was applied for to-day against the Victor Varnish Company, incorporated in 1904, with authorized capital of $40,000. The liabilities are $35,000 and assets $17,330.

Will Receive Degrees.

Kingston, Sept. 26.—The Queen's University has decided to confer degrees at the fall convocation on October 16th upon Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways and canals, and A. P. Low, director of the geological survey, Ottawa.

Prof. Fleming Inducted.

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—To-night the induction service of Prof. J. D. Fleming was held in the Knox Presbyterian church. He will take the chair of professor of theology and philosophy in Manitoba College. Prof. Fleming was a very brilliant reputation as a student and is a graduate of Edinburgh University. For five years he studied under some of the best teachers on the continent, in Holland, France and Germany. At the service to-night Rev. Dr. Duval, pastor of Knox church, presided. Rev. R. J. Robertson, pastor of

deavor?" If the Sunday school had been alive to its responsibilities, the Christian Endeavor would not have been needed in young people's work. It was not the fault of the boy that he grew, but it was the fault of the Sunday school that it had not kept pace with his growth. This made the Christian Endeavor movement necessary and the consequence was that it had come to stay and become really indispensable. Referring to the older scholars, the speaker said that there were no age limits. The modern Bible class movement was doing much for the older scholars, but there was still room for the Christian Endeavor Society. A Christian Endeavor who neglected his relation to the Sunday school was missing a great opportunity. He should be a member of the Sunday school and help in Sunday school work. He should be trained for service. Too many Sunday school workers knew nothing of Biblical scholarship; they did not even know their Bibles. Training for service should be the keynote of the Endeavor's effort.

The address was a stirring appeal to the young people to become earnest workers in the great cause.

The following committee were appointed:

Nominating—D. E. Buzza, C. Jones, Rev. W. E. Dunham, L. Leaky and Miss Aubin.

Resolutions—Rev. W. H. Bayne, Rev. Weston Smith, L. A. Nuttall, J. J. Thompson and A. Brethour.

Press Committee—R. W. Coleman and A. E. Roberts.

A conference on junior work, a neglected field, was conducted by Mr. C. E. Van der Maaten in the closing hour of the session, which proved an exceedingly interesting one. Many of the delegates took part in the discussions and much interest was shown by all.

Dr. Horsfall, of Seattle, was present at the morning session and was heard with delight by all. He will speak this afternoon on "Missionary Methods."

The convention is in progress this afternoon, and a meeting will be held this evening in the Metropolitan church. The programme for this evening is as follows:

6:30-15-Street evangelistic meeting, conducted by Rev. A. J. Brace, Speaker, Rev. A. W. McLeod, Nansimo.

7:30-Praise service.

7:45-Partial report resolutions committee.

7:55-Address, "What the Christian Endeavor Owes to Himself," Rev. F. J. Doyle, Western field secretary of Epworth Leagues of Christian Endeavor for the Methodist church of Canada.

8:20-Address, "The Endeavor's Inspiration Point," Mr. Clyde E. van der Maaten, Louisville, Ky.

9:00-Hymns and benediction.

FRENCH TRAIN WRECK.

Only One Passenger Seriously Injured in Railway Collision.

Paris, Sept. 26.—Nicholas Martin, agent of the White Star line, who returned from Cherbourg to-day, says that Miss F. K. Haskell, the step-daughter of Perry W. Earn, who was pinned in the wreckage, was the only person seriously injured as the result of telescoping yesterday at the mouth of Breval tunnel near Mantes, of the rear coach of the special train from Paris to Cherbourg. Miss Haskell, who suffered greatly from the shock, was taken on board the Adriatic on a stretcher and placed in care of the ship's surgeon. The exact nature of her injuries had not been determined when the steamer sailed.

AUTOMOBILE FATALITY.

Machine Knocked Down and Killed a Peasant—Two of the Occupants Injured.

Paris, Sept. 27.—An auto containing Mrs. Wm. Graham, of Santa Barbara, Cal., her daughter and a governess knocked down and killed a peasant yesterday near Auxerre, 100 miles from Paris. The chauffeur, in trying to avoid the accident ditched the machine and its occupants were thrown out. Mrs. Graham was cut about the head and the governess had an arm broken, but Miss Graham and the chauffeur were unhurt. The party was brought to Paris in an ambulance.

PROPOSED BEHRING TUNNEL.

Scheme is Not Looked Upon With Favor by the Russian Government.

New York, Sept. 27.—J. Hamilton Lewis, of Chicago, who went to Russia to investigate a project to tunnel the Behring straits and the building of a railroad connecting Siberia with Alaska, reports that he found that the Russian government has not granted a concession for the Siberian end of the tunnel. He said the Russian government would not make such a concession and that it is regarded by Russians as undesirable for military reasons.

THE VANCOUVER RIOTS.

Secretary of Japanese Consulate at Honolulu Will Make Report.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—T. Imai, secretary of the Japanese consulate at Honolulu, arrived here to-day on the steamer Siberia. He has been ordered by his home government to proceed to Vancouver and make a thorough investigation of the recent anti-Japanese outbreak there.

BEER GOES UP.

Increase of a Cent a Pound in New York—Another Advance Probable.

New York, Sept. 27.—Housekeepers throughout the city are complaining over the increase in the price of beer and beer products. There has been an increase in the cost to the retailer of one cent a pound. It is understood among retail dealers that the price will go up within the next month half a cent, if not a cent more.

R. L. BORDEN.

The Conservative Leader in New Westminster—Candidate Nominated.

Vancouver, Sept. 26.—R. L. Borden and Premier McBride addressed a meeting at New Westminster this evening.

In reply to a question of the Asiatic Exclusion League asking if he would enact laws excluding Orientals, Mr. Borden said he would be guided by the will of the majority of the people of British Columbia, who should be the best judges. They could not pass legislation in the face of the treaty with Japan made by the Dominion government, and that treaty could only be abrogated on due notice.

Nomination.

At the Conservative convention held at New Westminster this afternoon, J. D. Taylor was for the second time unanimously nominated to contest New Westminster district in the Dominion elections.

WATERWAYS COMMISSION.

The Members Entertained Upon Arrival at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 27.—The inland waterways commission arrived here this morning from Duluth and was at once taken to the Commercial Club, where breakfast was served. The commission was scheduled to arrive here from Duluth last night and a somewhat extensive programme was planned, at which formal addresses were to have been delivered by J. J. Hill, Archibald Ireland and other prominent men. This was upset by their inability to get here and the programme was hastily rearranged to suit the breakfast, appetites and conditions.

WIFE BURIED ALIVE.

Lives Five Days in Shallow Grave—Husband Is in Custody.

Details of an extraordinary crime in the Betul district of the central provinces of India are to hand. One Dama Gaike had a sick wife, and, having tired of her, took measures, it is alleged, to get rid of her. Some time ago, Dama put his wife into a cart, took her in the direction of a neighboring village, and on the way, finding her in an unconscious state, buried her in a hole which he dug in a nullah. But not having the necessary implements to dig a deep enough grave, he covered her with leaves and stones and quietly returned to his village. Five days afterwards a grader observed that his cattle shied at something and ran away. He went to see what was the matter when he heard a noise from what appeared to be a grave, above which twigs and stones seemed to protrude. Next morning the kotwal was told of the mysterious grave, and calling together a few people, they soon discovered the spot, and while talking about the person buried they heard her say: "Are you, I am not dead." They then went near and discovered Dama's wife still living. The woman said that her husband had buried her as she was ill. The woman's relatives were sent for. She was extricated from her awkward situation and sent to hospital by the police, who also arrested her husband. The woman lived for thirteen days afterwards. How she lived without food or water for five or six days, half buried beneath sand, leaves and stones, is a mystery.

CURIOSITIES OF SIGHT.

It is a fact not generally perceived by the majority of persons that if we run our eyes along the side of a room, or along the horizon, the objects do not follow the movement of the head with a smooth, uniform motion, but keep in line by means of a series of quick, short, almost imperceptible jerks. At first one may not think this is so, but, says the New York Tribune, careful experiment will prove that it is. If the eyes are fixed on a moving object, then the motion of the eyeballs in following the object is uniform; but when it is the head that moves, while the objects looked at remain fixed, the eyeballs perform in the manner just described. It is not necessary in order to observe this phenomenon that visible objects should be before the eyes. Let the eyes be shut, the fingers pressed lightly on the closed lids, and the head then turned from side to side. The little jerks with which the eyeballs follow the motion of the head will be distinctly perceived.

Among the curious scientific experiments that have been made in the effort to discover the meaning of this peculiarity of the eyes is one in which a turntable, large enough for a man to sit comfortably upon, plays a principal part. When the table is turned with a regular motion, the person sitting upon it, having closed his eyes, feels his eyeballs jerking as they follow the revolution of his head; but as the table continues to turn the jerking gradually ceases, and at the same time the person imagines that the revolution is becoming slower, until at last, when the eyeballs no longer twitch, the table seems to him to have stopped turning. If then the table is suddenly made to turn faster, the jerking sensation is renewed; and if, on the contrary, it is made to turn more slowly, the same sensation is experienced. But now the person imagines that he is being revolved in a direction opposite to that of the actual motion.

Still more extraordinary is the effect produced by continuing the revolution at a uniform rate after the person has lost the sense of rotation, and then causing him to bow his head upon his breast so that its motion is round an axis running from the chin to the back of the head. The instant this experiment is tried the person feels as if his head is turning round both of the axes at the same time, and the sensation is described as both curious and alarming. Some physiologists believe that we possess a special sense relating to the rotary motion of the body, and they think that the organ of this sense is in the labyrinth of the ear. To this organ they attribute our powers of equilibrium, so that if it is seriously disturbed we reel and totter.

THE PROPOSED ALL-RED ROUTE

OUTLOOK FOR THE SCHEME IS BRIGHTER

Deputy Minister of Mines Returns to Capital After Visiting the West.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The Dominion government is now certain of acceptance by British authorities of the All-Red line scheme, as outlined by Sir Wilfrid at the recent Imperial conference. It is reported that a definite offer from a strong syndicate is now before His Majesty's government to provide for a fast passenger service between Canada and Great Britain. Besides Lord Strathcona's well-known interest in the project, both the Canadian Pacific Railway and Allan steamship lines, it is said, will hold large shares of the stock.

Visited Mines.
A. P. Low, deputy minister of mines, has just got back from an inspection tour in British Columbia and Alberta, but is not well enough to be seen. He inspected all the important mines in British Columbia. He also fully investigated the work being done by the three big government survey parties, one in the Siyeh, one on the Pacific coast and one west of the boundary line, and says that they are making good progress. He will hand a full report to the minister of mines, Hon. Mr. Templeman.

Secure Land.
A decision of the high court of Ontario has given force to the right of ownership to 70,000 acres of land in the Saskatchewan Land and Homestead Co. in Saskatchewan. The case has been in the courts for the past four years, and the winners estimate that the decision is worth a quarter of a million dollars to them. They are: Dr. W. C. Anglin, R. R. Parks, dentist; M. D. Shannon, druggist and A. D. Cunningham, lawyer.

Montcalm Monument.
A subscription list is about to be launched simultaneously in France and Canada to raise funds for the erection of a monument to General Montcalm in his native town, Vauvert, Gard, France. An exact copy of the monument will be presented to Canada to be erected in a public place. The raising of subscriptions for Canada will be done by three committees at Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec. The committee in France is composed of members of the cabinet, of the French academy, admirals, generals and prominent men in all walks of life, while the Canadian committee will include the following gentlemen: Hon. Laurier, the premier of Quebec; Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of Canada; Sir Louis Jetté, the lieutenant-governor of Quebec; Hon. J. I. Tarte, Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Hon. R. Dandurand, Hon. L. J. Forget, Judge Chauveau, Sir A. P. Caron, Archbishop Bruchési, Archbishop Reginald, Sir F. Langelier and Sir Alex. Lacoste.

GRAND DUKE DYING.

Constance Grand Duchy of Baden, Sept. 26.—Grand Duke Frederick, who has been suffering from intestinal inflammation for a week or more, is rapidly growing worse and is hardly expected to survive the night. All the members of his family together with the president of the ministry and the other members of the grand cabinet, have gathered at the Chateau and are awaiting the end.

The bulletin issued at midnight says: "The Grand Duke's weakness of the heart began quite suddenly, in the course of the evening, to increase in a most threatening manner. It was possible to re-establish a certain degree of normal action, but the condition of the patient remains such that the worst must be feared."

LUMBER CUT REDUCED.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 26.—On account of the depression in the British and American timber markets, the lumber cut in this province this winter will only be half as large as usual. The British markets are reported to be greatly over-supplied, a couple of cargoes which were sent over recently being held in storage with no demand for them at prices which will show a loss. The American market is similarly affected. Nevertheless, the sale is announced as having been made to American capitalists of the extensive limits of Summer & Co., located in Gloucester county, for $25,000. This sale is the fourth of the kind which has been made in the last two years.

CRUISE OF BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Sept. 26.—On leaving the White House to-day, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf said that he had discussed with the president the question of the proposition of coal for the Atlantic fleet on its cruise to the Pacific coast. The secretary also discussed the question of the award of the contract for building the submarine boats authorized by law. A decision as to whether the government can ship coal in foreign bottoms, the secretary said would be arrived at this week.

TRIAL OF MINISTER.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 26.—The church trial of Rev. Wilbert P. Ferguson, of the Methodist church of University Place, was resumed this afternoon, with Mrs. E. A. Cross, the accusing witness, on the stand. Her testimony was similar to that given during the preliminary investigation, alleging that she had been guilty of misconduct with the minister, who was her boarder. Mrs. Cross said that she had loved the minister and that he had assured her that love was greater than law.

BUSY TIMES IN THE WHEAT FIELDS

Farmers Are Hurrying Grain to the Elevators—Labor Scarce in Some Districts

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—The weekly crop report issued by the C. P. R. to-day tells of busy times in the great wheat fields of the Northwest of Canada, and of thousands of bushels of grain being hurried into elevators along the line at such an advance in price to bring happy smiles to the face of the farmer and to all who are directly concerned in the results of the harvest. While there is a shortage of men in some districts, the work goes merrily on, and the records of the separators tell of more bushels to the acre than had been hitherto thought possible.

While the frost has been very severe during some of the recent nights there has been little or any damage done, as most of the crop is now in the stock.

John Love, president of the Winnipeg Elevator Company, has disposed of his interests to Clarence Piper, of Minneapolis. The Winnipeg Elevator Company is one of the largest doing business in the West. Mr. Love has been intimately connected with the grain business in the West for several years.

END IN SIGHT.

President Small of Telegraphers' Union Says Agreement Will Be Reached Within Ten Days.

St. Louis, Sept. 26.—National President S. J. Small, who is here to confer with Commissioner of Labor Chas. P. Neill and officers of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, said to-night: "The leased wire operators under contract will not be called out. The act-up in New York is based on a purely local condition, and was referred to the executive board, of which I am chairman. It is the sense of this board that all contracts must be respected." President Small also said that an agreement with the companies will be reached within the next ten days and the strike ended.

MURDER SUSPECT ARRESTED.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—The local police received a telegram late in the afternoon from the authorities at Springfield, Ill., saying that Richard Walton, wanted for the murder of Mrs. Lillian W. Grant, had been arrested there and positively identified.

BOAT CAPSIZED.

Occupants Supposed to Have Lost Their Lives in Lake Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—Word was received here to-day that a small two-masted sailing boat was found on the beach about a mile and a half south of Whitehead on Tuesday morning, with both sails set. Mrs. Taylor, a lady who lives at Whitehead, claims to have seen a sailboat half a mile from Whitehead on Monday. As near as she could tell it contained three persons.

While watching the boat something appeared to go wrong with the sails, apparently causing the boat to capsize, as it was lost sight of. A very heavy sea was running at the time, with a strong north wind. A light grey overcoat and a valise were found in the locker. The valise contained two or three razors and an unopened bottle of liquor. The boat is painted white, with a blue strip around it. It had no name, and nothing was found by which the supposed occupants could be identified.

THE SHOW AND ## ITS MANAGEMENT.

Yesterday was a day to make glad
the hearts of all citizens of Victoria interested in the success of the exhibition. The attendance was larger by several thousands than on any previous occasion in the history of the fair. After making due allowance for the increase of population in the city itself
and in the surrounding country, for the favorable weather, and for all the factors essential to the great degree of success which has been attained, it still remains true that but for efficient management and a special genius for organization and detail on the part of some one in authority, the somewhat unfortunate experience of past years
might have been repeated this year.
We therefore join unreservedly in the encomiums so deservedly accorded Messrs. Smart and Floyd by the Colonist this morning. Neither of these gentlemen is markedly spectacular in his method of doing business; but it is quite apparent that the strings of management are in competent hands. It was quite obvious to anyone who noted
the great crowd surging around the gates that if the slightest detail had not been carefully attended to considerable confusion must have ensued,
and that instead of the great multitude
proving an inspiration to the beholder
the miff would have been grievous
by expressions of discontent and evidences of disorder. But the crowd was well handled, first by the street railway company, and second, by the officials of the agricultural association.
Mr. Smart's friends have claimed that,
given the opportunity, his capacity for management would be amply in evidence. The confidence thus expressed was fully justified in the events of yesterday. Not only was the crowd handled in a highly satisfactory manner. All the events on the programme
were carried out with a promptness
and precision most gratifying under the circumstances. To sum up the situation, it may be said that the management of the Victoria show is to be heartily congratulated upon the masterly qualities displayed by its secretary and upon the splendid efficiency of the staff assisting him.

Mr. Smart and Mr. Floyd are both comparatively young men. The institution committed to their charge is assuming considerable proportions. It is evident that as time passes and the country increases in population the importance of our exhibition as a means of disseminating information
and educating the agricultural and horticultural community will grow.
The amusement features, while important and possibly the most attractive from a purely financial point of view, are not by any means the most important features. With respect to the first we have much to learn from the experience of other institutions of a kindred character, such as the Westminster fair and the shows held annually in Eastern Canada. If it is possible to arrange for the attendance of our chief officials at any or all of these fairs, the factor of expense, which would be comparatively insignificant,
ought not to be permitted to stand in the way of the acquisition of necessary experience. The association, we doubt not, in view of the remarkable degree of success which has been attained this year, will carefully consider the matter at its next meeting.
We have just one word of friendly criticism to offer in connection with his fair, put forward in response to several complaints lodged by spectators

of the races and other amusement events. The grand stand was crowded to excess yesterday, notwithstanding that its accommodation has been nearly or quite doubled since last year.
Tickets were sold for seating accommodation long after the stand was filled to overflowing. Hundreds bought tickets who could not by the exercise of all the physical force of which they were capable gain admittance even to the aisles of the stand. Some one was responsible for this condition of affairs. There ought to be some way of estimating the capacity of this point
of vantage and of governing the sale
of its seats.

The management of the races themselves were, on the whole, in very competent hands. Judge Fullerton is probably without an equal in the West for the manner in which he controls jockeys and drivers whose principal desire,
naturally, is to win by any means,
trick or device. But surely it cannot be that the business of mere bookmakers is of more importance than the convenience of the public which pays
for the privilege of seeing the races.
We appreciate the difficulties of having all contests brought off promptly; but it will not tend to the popularity of the fair to permit at least half of the spectators to depart for home when the programme is but half or three-quarters completed. This occurred yesterday and the day before. We are pleased to note that all the objectionable features of the so-called "bronco busting"
exhibitions have been eliminated this year. The displays of horsemanship given within the wired enclosure are not the least interesting of the features of the programme of amusements. If there were any means of cutting out
the long waits between races, the public would appreciate the change.

DISSIPATION OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES.

Speaking upon the subject of better
terms for British Columbia, Mr. Borden said that if successful at the polls
and called upon to form a government
he would favor the appointment of a commission of investigation to consider the matter of the financial relations of the province with the Dominion, and if the report of such a commission should be favorable to granting better terms
he would see that its recommendations were carried out. The Laurier government has conceded the justice of the claims of the province and has granted a measure of better terms without going to the expense of forming a commission or incurring the long delay incidental to such an investigation.

Now if a commission were appointed to investigate the financial affairs of the province, it would be bound to carefully consider all aspects of the case. It would naturally look into the manner in which the admittedly wonderful resources of the public in this province have been administered by past governments and the present provincial government. No province in the Dominion has such a tremendous domain as British Columbia. No province in the Dominion has a domain of such vast potential wealth as British Columbia. Has the public estate been administered in the manner most likely to produce the best possible results
for the public and to bring the large-est possible amount of revenue to the provincial treasury? We know already what has become of the greater portion of our known resources in coal
—worth possibly in the aggregate billions of dollars. Of the coal areas of Vancouver Island it may be said that they were permitted to pass from the control of the people ere their value was properly appreciated. But what about the Crow's Nest coal fields? Did they not pass into the hands of a company of speculators—some of whom at least were members of the provincial administration—without any compensating returns whatever? Consider what is occurring in the case of another public asset of fabulous value
even at the present day. The continent of America is rapidly being denuded of timber. The forests of British Columbia are the most valuable of any upon the continent. In what way is our timber being administered? Are the returns annually received by the provincial treasury in the slightest degree commensurate with the value of the assets being dissipated by prodigal, reckless hands? It is well known that speculators are feverishly appropriating these areas and disposing of them
to other speculators who will hold them
until the day when they shall be able to reap a rich harvest. The government exercises no control whatever over our forest areas, although it has ample power under the statutes to do so if it were not a party to the policy of spoliation. It will be said that the province derives a large revenue every year from stumpage and royalty upon timber cut; that for the present financial year alone the revenue returns
from this source will exceed a million dollars. But other provinces of Canada with a mere fraction of our timber resources derive a magnificent revenue
from the disposition of assets from which we gain practically no returns whatever. Cruisers are distributed throughout this province staking out timber claims. They pay a trifle for this privilege and sell their claims for hundreds of thousands of dollars.
Scores of individuals have made themselves independent for life during the present year in this manner. In Ontario the government employs experts to do the cruising and surveying, and
the lands thus marked are disposed of

by public auction to the highest bidders. In our case the value of the timber in the first instance goes into the pockets of private individuals; in the case of Ontario or any other province possessing timber resources it goes into the provincial treasury. The other provinces obtain the best possible results from the disposition of public assets. Our province gets the worst conceivable results.

That is the situation. One of these days the public will awaken and realize to the full the effects of such a policy. And that will be a useful day for any government which cannot divest itself of responsibility for such wanton prodigality.

The platform of the Victoria theatre
presented a very imposing appearance
on Wednesday evening on the occasion of Mr. Borden's second appearance in this city. It was well filled by a party of very respectable gentlemen, all of whom, we presume, have their names
on the voters' lists and will be qualified to cast one ballot each on election day, when election day shall arrive
some time in the still indefinite future.
We hope they may all be enjoying good health when that day of reckoning comes. But if all the gentlemen who were invited to take seats upon
the stage had availed themselves of such a high privilege, there would have been an audience of not inconsiderable
proportions in that part of the theatre alone. Not one-third of them did that,
but their names were published in the columns of the gossamer Colonist as having taken seats upon the platform
just the same. Like their friends the Chinese, Tory politicians are both bland and tricky. Some of the men who were advertised as occupying seats
upon the platform were thousands of miles away from the scene of the "grand demonstration." Many of them were neither in the auditorium nor upon the platform. Still, as the Colonist says, the list of names looked imposing. The deception might have passed without observation, because the public is now familiar with the peculiar but shallow devices of our good Conservative friends in Victoria, had not the Colonist been so indiscreet as to sarcastically call attention to the significance of it.

Mr. J. D. Rees, a very distinguished member of the British Indian civil service, in a published letter directs public attention to the fact that, terrible
as are the ravages of plague in India,
the mortality figures would seem somewhat less appalling if considered in comparison with the numbers of the Indian population. He points out that,
according to official statistics, five millions have died in eight years, which works out at a little over two per mille per annum. The mortality during June last, and for the six months ending June last, respectively, works out to .2349 and 2.6 per mille of the population of India. In 1905, the last year for which complete figures are available,
the mortality rate for fever for British India was 18.74 per mille, and at all times the constant mortality from malaria is probably infinitely greater than the loss from plague at its height.
Not only should all the figures, he argues, be compared with the population of 294 millions, but comparisons should be made with other Asiatic countries
of more or less similar climatic conditions. He complains that most writers about the plague entirely ignore cosmic, climatic and economic factors.
Similar misconception exists, he declares, in the case of famine figures,
the public confounding the numbers of persons saved from famine with those of the actual sufferers. "At the height of the wide-spread agricultural distress of which we have accurate record,"
he writes, "the proportion of men, women and children in receipt of relief
from the State, 2 per cent., was smaller than the corresponding figure in England, 2.2 per cent., in a normal year."

Judge Lampman lately commented in appropriate terms on the perverse disposition of men in harboring the delusion that they can beat a Chinese lottery. The comment of His Honor is capable of very wide application. It is one of the peculiarities of humanity,
especially of the male species of humanity, that no amount of experience,
whether personal or vicarious, can convince it of the futility of wagering against the "bank" or the "book." It goes up like sheep to the slaughter, but it is not always dumb after it is slain.

In 1894-5 the government of Canada expended $180, and in 1895-6, $225 in constructing lighthouses in British Columbia. This was the total expenditure in the last two years of Conservative administration. In 1904-5, the Liberal government expended for the same purpose, $63,568, in 1905-6, $61,048, and in 1906-7 a still larger sum. This is the kind of better terms that the people want.

San Francisco has had many trials
and tribulations of late, but she has
at least been spared the calamity which threatened her of Mr. Schmitz receiving another nomination for the mayoralty.

Ottawa Free Press: Sir Charles Tupper
having expressed the opinion, upon his arrival in Montreal, that the right policy of Canada is to allow free ingress of all Asiatic races, we venture to suggest to Premier McBride that he ought to organize a demonstration in Vancouver in honor of the former Conservative leader. The man who has duped the electors of the province by his double-shuffle over the so-called Natal Act would be a good man to organize a demonstration in favor of the provincial Registration over which there has been so much fuss distinctly states

that the immigration of persons who are unable to pass the educational test
"shall be lawful."

What Other People Think

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION AND THE FAIR.

To the Editor:—The Rev. T. W. Gladstone, as secretary of the Ministerial Association, writes to the Colonist this morning. The tone of his letter is very over-bearing and seems to intimate that the Ministerial Association wish to dictate to the Mayor and aldermen in all civil affairs. To quote Mr. Gladstone's letter: "His Worship the Mayor attended the last session of the Ministerial Association, and expressed himself regarding this ballot in terms absolutely satisfactory to us."

This goes to show that the Mayor takes his orders from the Ministerial Association.
If this is the case, the fair should be run and given as a church or Ministerial Association fair, and not as one gotten up by the general public, who, I believe,
are not prepared to give the clergy quite so much control in municipal matters as they desire to have.

IN REPLY TO MR. WRIGHT.

To the Editor:—As Mr. Andrew Wright
seems to be still troubled with bad
dreams about the future of British Columbia in general and Victoria in particular, I would like, with your kind permission, to point out a few facts that he seems to be conveniently-unacquainted with. Of the South African labor problem he must certainly have learned very little, as he seems to accept with full confidence Mr. Nimm's assertion that the white folk are leaving there by the thousand because of hard times. Times were not hard in South Africa before the mine owners were permitted to import Chinese into that country, or that part of the country, Griqualand West, where some of the mines are worked, and thus put wages below what a decent white man can live on. I expect Gen. Botha knows
as much about South Africa as most men,
and if Mr. Wright would like to learn anything about the labor trouble over there I would refer him to one of the General's recent speeches about this matter. Mr. Wright need not lose any sleep through fear of the owners of "big"
houses leaving Victoria because they cannot get their kitchen floors scrubbed.
Most "big" houses in Victoria have the kitchen floor covered with linoleum, thus obviating the necessity of "scrubbing." But if some of those good people who live in
"big" houses do find it convenient to move our tradespeople will doubtless be able to worry along. I am able to assert with truth that many of our tradespeople prefer to do business with the working class, members of labor unions.
They get their bills paid more regularly and make fewer bad debts. Mr. Wright asserts that "the labor unionists have the politicians in their pocket, the press under lock and key, and the country by the throat." Not Not yet, Mr. Wright; not yet, else you would not be able to acquire millions of feet of valuable timber
and thus have to "yell" so lustily for cheap labor to exploit the wealth you will probably spend elsewhere. When we find men like Mr. Wright advocating the removal of the $500 head tax that some of our wisest politicians found it necessary to put on Chinese, and because a certain Mr. Somebody in Vancouver would have to shut down his mill, only

he was lucky enough to secure 12 Hindus, then we know where the shoe pinches. Not for the good of our fine province; not for the good of the tollers
who are building up the wealth of the province—Occidentals and Orientals alike
—but for personal gain, wholly and all the time, do we hear such "yelling"
about the scarcity of labor.

J. A. WINDSOR.
25th, 1907.

A WHITEWASHED CANADA.

To the Editor:—Permit an onlooker to observe that Mr. Wright has the best of it so far.
I, too, obeyed your instructions to read
Mr. Ralph Smith's speech, and, with Mr.
Wright, was disappointed.
Mr. Smith's argument, as reported, not only consists of a mere declaration of belief, but that very declaration is made unstable and absurd by what precedes it.
He cites England as a country that builded herself of her own people, and thinks
this province should do likewise, no matter how slow the growth, rather than take advantage of the proffered labor of tan-colored foreigners. And a minute before that he was explaining and excusing
the drafting into Canada of thousands of families of Gallians, Czechs, Hungarians, and whatnots, on the reasonable ground that a quick development of the country was needed in order to make it attractive to Anglo-Saxons. I believe he was right in his defence of Sifton's policy, but if so, he could not be right in denouncing all Asiatic immigration.
Mr. Wright is standing pat on the statement that the Chinese are a menace to
(a) That house, garden and fruit ranch

laborers are impossible to procure in British Columbia.
(b) That the Chinaman would satisfactorily meet our wants in this respect if
the head tax were lowered.

(c) That British Columbia would have great attractions for well-to-do Anglo-Saxons, home dwellers and ranchers, if employees were to be had—and not otherwise.

It would be a great satisfaction to an unbiased householder, taxpayer and employer of several whites and an occasional China cook, halting as an angel vis-à-vis
at my modest limit of $5 and board ere he flies to the forties and fifties of my wealthier or hungrier neighbors, if you would give us some definite arguments to demolish Mr. Wright's a, b, c, and to set his feet in the right way, whatever it may be. For the brave shout of "A White Canada" is not sufficiently convincing to a man whose bannock days are over and less vigorously by the least immaculate who cannot make yeast bread. The flag of white Canada covers a multitude of half-breeds, and may easily be waved
most vigorously by the least immaculate of palefaces. There is no doubt that it has been flapped so violently as to convince the vocal organs at least of our aspiring politicians, who are unanimous
in echoing the sound of the loudest roar.
But they make very little argument, and
Mr. Smith did not really argue at all.
Tell us yourself, Mr. Editor, in good,
plain, common sense, how we can peacefully discourage our friends the Japs from a too great immigration and yet retain and expand their good-will and trade on the Pacific; how to make our labor field less economically attractive to our brother subjects from India; how to build up a province of prosperity and comfort,
of no poverty and no white servility, unless we take abundantly of the help that China offers, cheap to us, well paid to them, and as freely beneficial to the country as the waterfalls that we turn from waste to electric energy? And then Mr. Wright as Advocate Diabolus will be silenced.

—Merton Smith, of Vancouver, here
taking part in the convention, will open the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A.
Sunday at 3:30 with a stirring lecture on the following topics dealing with atheistic and infidel arguments: "The Land of Nod Where Cain Found His Wife"; "Why Did God Order the Extermination of the Canaanites?" "If Christ
Was Born of a Woman Why Was He Not a Sinner?" The Knox male quartette of Vancouver will sing.

—Frank Bowser, Grand Master of the Masonic Order in British Columbia, is paying an official visit to the lodges of Vancouver Island. In company with local representative of the order, including W. K. Houston, D. G. M., and E. B. Paul, G. J. W., he went to Esquimalt last evening and was entertained by United Service Lodge 24. Tonight the Grand Master will visit the Vancouver and Quadra lodges of this city, and to-morrow he will go to Dun-
cans to meet the lodge at that place.
In his visits this evening and to-morrow Mr. Bowser will be accompanied by Frank Burde, another representative of the order.

PICKPOCKET CAUGHT.

Man Taken While He Was Attempting to Steal From Fair Visitor.

Caught with his hand in the pocket
of an exhibition visitor yesterday evening, John Hays was arrested by the provincial police and later handed over to the city police, who had a stronger
case against him. In the police court this morning he was charged with stealing $6 from F. A. Williams while going out to the exhibition on a car
yesterday afternoon.

It appears that Hays, who gives his home address as Edmonton, but displays a woeful ignorance of that city,
stole the money from Williams just as the car was reaching the grounds. Before his victim had properly realized
his loss the light-fingered one was lost in the crowd. Not content with the half-dozen greenbacks he had gathered in, Hays mingled with the crush on the race course and attempted to add to his store of booty. He had got his hand in the pocket of another man's coat when his intended prey, James Reed, of Vancouver, detected him and held him until the police arrived. Later Williams identified Hays as the man

that took his money, and the city, having the stronger case of the two, proceeded with the stealing charge. Hays pleaded not guilty and was remanded
until to-morrow morning.

It is believed that the prisoner is one of a band of crooks, the police having been notified of several cases where small sums of money have been stolen.
This afternoon Constable Carlow arrested another man who is believed to have had a hand in some crooked
work since the exhibition commenced.

Remains of Irrigation systems 4,000 years old have been excavated in South Africa.

DIAMOND FORESIGHT

YEARS AGO we foresaw the present scarcity of Diamonds, and bought steadily, with the pleasurable result that to-day we hold the largest stock in Western Canada. This is the reason why we are now giving the grandest values on record to our patrons.

Visitors to Victoria should take the opportunity of investing in Diamonds and thereby saving one-third the cost.

ENTERTAINED JUDGES.

Mayor Morley Gave a Dinner Last Night at the Driad.

A pleasing function took place at the Driad hotel last evening when Mayor Morley entertained the judges at the exhibition and several of the managing directors of the B. C. Agricultural Association to dinner. A very enjoyable time was spent and expressions of felicity were made by several of those in attendance.

The Mayor expressed his appreciation of the good work which was being done by the judges in the various divisions, saying that they were educating the general public to a higher plane in the way of raising stock and attaining proficiency in all branches of agricultural and domestic science. All over the Dominion great work had been done by competent judges at the exhibitions and fairs in the way of setting high standards for exhibitors to strive for. This had a directly beneficial effect, not only upon the individuals, but upon the community generally. In concluding, the Mayor expressed the hope that the judges present would be seen frequently in Victoria.

Miss Laura Rose, of Guelph, Ont., who is judging the dairy produce, replied to the Mayor with a very neat speech, after which she proposed a vote of thanks to him for the pleasant entertainment he had provided.

Dr. Toine, J. Richardson, deputy-minister of agriculture, R. E. Taber, of Condie, Sask., judge in the horse division, and Mr. Kibbie also made some brief remarks appropriate to the occasion, after which the vote of thanks proposed by Miss Rose was passed with enthusiasm.

HERE FROM DAWSON.

John Levy Will Spend Winter in City—Diamonds Reported in the North.

John Levy, who for ten years has been a resident of Dawson, is in the city on a visit to his brother, H. Levy, of this city. An absence of ten years from Victoria has made a great change in the city. It has grown to a marked extent, and the buildings in the business section have been very much improved.

Mr. Levy says that business is quiet in Dawson at present, the cessation of all kinds of work by the Guggenheim. This will have a very bad effect in the north, and will, he thinks, result in many miners leaving Dawson. The copper mines at White Horse, however, are proving excellent, and Mr. Levy thinks there will be a very busy season at that point. At present the town is filled up, and business is very brisk.

The mines extending for a long way back from the town are proving excellent. About three months ago some miners brought diamonds into Dawson which has created considerable excitement. The men would not reveal the location where they were found until they have secured their locations.

The diamonds, they claimed, were of the best quality.

Mr. Levy will remain in Victoria all winter at least.

SOUTH SAANICH COUNCIL.

Desires to Acquire Powers to Look After Watercourses in District.

South Saanich municipality is now interesting itself in the question of whether it can acquire powers by which it can restrict to itself the right to look after and keep in necessary repair the water courses and ditches in the district, charging the financial end to the property owners who benefit from the work. The question arose owing to letters having been received from property owners with respect to the ill conditions of the ditches on Kelvin road. It appears that some of the property owners take the trouble to clear the ditches lying within their property themselves, but the work is not carried on in an equitable fashion, with the result that while in some parts the ditches run clear, in others they flood the adjoining lands, thus creating a condition of affairs which it is considered necessary to remedy.

The council is at present taking steps to discover what authority it has in this question, and at the next meeting on Saturday week, the 31st prox., the question will be further discussed.

At the last session of the council a few matters of minor importance came up for discussion. A petition was received from twenty-two members of the West Saanich school district in which the necessity of a new school building in that district was pointed out. The petition was laid over for further consideration.

A letter of thanks was received from the directors of the Saanich Agricultural Society thanking the council for a grant of $100 made for the forthcoming exhibition.

Consequent upon a letter from R. Fowler, secretary of the Cloverdale Municipal Association, a number of fence viewers were appointed to inspect the drain along Burns avenue, and these men will be paid by the municipality.

The following were present at the meeting: Reynolds Brydon, Councillors Pointer, Grant, Moore and Durand.

THE CULLINAN DIAMOND.

Two years ago I saw the Cullinan diamond, which General Botha wants the Transvaal to present to the King. It is a rough lump, so much heavier looking than it is, that when it was put into one's hand the keeper put his hand below in case one dropped it. It had shining, shining surfaces in it, rather like mica, and there dwelt at its heart, shifting slightly if you looked too close at it, a pale azure little mist of color like the blue of a moonstone. It is difficult to describe the size of it, but I remember that it covered more than the palm of my hand. I suppose it is possible to fix a value for it, but only in an arbitrary way. Diamonds mount in value by such enormous leaps when they are of any great size that it cannot be possible strictly to value a thing thirty times the weight of the Kohinoor. Even if you rate it in proportion to you would expect from merely Kohinoor and other big stones, you still cannot be right, because there is no means of measuring the proportion—the gap is too great. But no doubt the best place for an incredible reality like this is in a crown.—Manchester Guardian.

INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Colo. Bearer of the Woman's Relief Corps, Sends thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1828 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo. to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: For five years I have been troubled with a tumor which kept growing, causing me intense agony and great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope.

I could not bear to think of an operation and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to sick women decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only meant temporary relief, but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size.

The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to sick women.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacements or ulceration of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such trouble.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female trouble.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease has been advising sick women free of charge. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

RIVAL CLAIMANTS FOR MAN'S BODY

KEY FOUND IN POCKET
ESTABLISHED IDENTITY

Farmer Ended His Life by Hanging Himself During Absence of Children.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—There was a dispute at the morgue to-day regarding the ownership of a body and the matter was settled when they key found in his pocket opened the door of his late home on Cuvilliers street. The body was first identified as that of C. M. Laforques, of Panama, who arrived in Montreal several weeks ago. The dead man answered the description of Laforques. Before the case was disposed of by the coroner, however, the relations of Louis W. Palardeau, who disappeared some time ago, called at the morgue and claimed the remains. They identified the clothing and the key. The coroner sent his officer to the house to find out if the key would fit the lock. The key was apparently made for the lock, and this decided the question. There were no marks of violence on the body, and the case will likely be disposed of without a jury.

Farmer's Death.
Labroquerie, Man., Sept. 26.—Camille Bailey, while moving a threshing outfit, attempted to oil part of the engine and his knee was caught in the driving gear, crushing it to pieces. Bailey died about four hours afterward from loss of blood. Deceased was one of the most respected farmers of this city. He was president of the Labroquerie Cheese & Butter Company.

Hanged Himself.
St. Constant, Que., Sept. 26.—Joseph Monet, a farmer of this place, who has been insane for some time, committed suicide this afternoon. He sent his children on an errand, and during their absence took his own life by hanging himself to the top of the front door.

IMMIGRATION OF JAPANESE

SUPERINTENDENT SCOTT CONTINUES INQUIRY

Nothing Known at Ottawa Regarding Rumored Changes in the Passport System.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—A press dispatch from Vancouver says that Dominion Immigration agents have notified all the steamship and transportation companies that no more Japanese will be admitted without having a passport from Japan to Canada. In this way the importation from the Hawaiian Islands will be stopped, as the state department has charge of the passports.

On being interviewed the secretary of state said that he knew of no such arrangement between the powers. The information in the dispatch was the first he had heard of it.

Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, in the West Hill deputy, Mr. W. Cory, being interviewed, said that he knew of no order going to the agent in Vancouver from the immigration department. It was ascertained that some time ago a suggestion of this kind was made, but nothing came out of it. However, the superintendent of immigration, W. D. Scott, is on the Pacific Coast looking into the whole subject of Oriental immigration, and it may be that he contemplates such a change as that outlined in the report. But before it could come into force he would have to obtain the sanction of the government. It is quite possible that he is in communication with his minister.

There are different opinions as to whether such a step as suggested would or would not interfere with the treaty with Japan.

Consul General Nasse being interviewed, said he had no information upon the subject. Without some understanding with Japan it is not likely that an order of this kind would be put into force.

TABLE.
Victoria, B. C. September, 1907.

The height is measured from the level of the lower low water at spring tides. This level corresponds with the datum to which the soundings on the Admiralty chart of Victoria harbor are referred, as closely as can now be ascertained.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 13th meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water.

Eighty-seven per cent. of the Canadian farmers own their own farms.

EXHIBITION PROVES GRAND SUCCESS

was very complete and the fruit of exceptional quality; but the Salt Spring Island man, William E. Scott, of Ganegs, had if anything finer apples than the Victoria men. The color of this fruit was slightly better and the fruit larger, but the whole display was not as complete, there being few plums and pears. Reeve Brydon, of South Saanich, also had a very fine lot of fruit, but the collection was not as large as the others.

The cattle and horses came in from many enclaves from the large numbers who visited the stalls, and also from those who saw only those who took part in the parade. The latter were the uninitiated, the town people who care only for the general appearance, but who knew nothing about the fine differences between the different individual cattle or horses. Many people had an idea that the cattle exhibit was not large because there were not many in the parade. The parade was the largest ever seen in Victoria, but only a few of the prize winners took part in it. Some of the prize winners, however, and these remained in their stalls.

Miss Edmonds, of Seattle, again assisted the band in the musical part of the entertainment in the evening. She gave a number of the old favorites, and they were appreciated by the immense throng. Miss Edmonds has a powerful and sweet voice which filled the building and brought forth many favorable remarks.

Dr. Tolmie, on being asked for his opinion on the exhibit this morning, said that he considered the whole stock exhibit a very fine one. In the cattle the short horns shown by T. W. Paterson and H. M. Vasey were splendid specimens of their kind. The Jerseys and Holsteins also were a very fine lot of cattle, especially the Holsteins.

"This year," continued Dr. Tolmie, "we have attempted to put up a show rather different from that of other years. We have gone strong on racing to encourage the breeding of the best horses, and raise the whole standard of light horses. We have interested the ranchers of the upper country through the rough riding contests, and by means of the stock parade, which we consider one of the most important parts of the attractions. We have tried to interest everyone in the real object of the exhibition.

"The management have felt that in former years the light attractions and games have played too important part in the exhibition, and the success of the departure from the old lines has been made clearly manifest by the appreciation of the public, who on every hand express favorable comment, and of the judges who travel all over Canada attending the different fairs, and who are better than anyone else able to give an opinion on the subject.

"Probably the cheap rates given by the C. P. R. has had as much as anything to do with the success of the exhibition. These rates have been given from points west of Calgary, and have been taken advantage of by a large number of people in different parts of British Columbia. The remarks of these visitors concerning the exhibits are certainly very satisfactory to the management.

"In the selection of the judges this year the committee have taken special pains to secure experts in the departments allotted to them, and these, on the whole, have given great satisfaction. Most of them have been secured through the agricultural departments of the provincial and Dominion governments.

"In future," said Dr. Tolmie, "it will be necessary to get better accommodation for the public. The grand stand must be enlarged to a very large extent, and there must be more entrance gates as well as increased accommodation for the stock. We have now a large and well situated grounds, and immediately after the exhibition it would be wise to secure a proper plan of the whole premises, and in erecting future buildings they should be so placed as to give uniformity to the whole. Each section should be complete in itself and situated as conveniently as possible. The sidings would also be better placed."

F. M. Logan was busy this morning.

but he had time to say that although he considered the stock exhibit a very good one, yet he thought many of the animals might have been better prepared for the show. In many cases the cattle were brought direct from the fields or barns without the slightest attempt at preparation. They were ungroomed, and often were in rather poor condition. One or two notable exceptions to this were the short horn exhibits of W. T. Paterson and H. M. Vasey, who understood the art of preparing cattle for the show. The matter of showing an animal properly was also, he said, an important thing. The horses should be taught to lead, and the man who shows either horses or cattle should see that they were standing to the best advantage. A small thing like this often makes the difference between winning or losing a prize.

This morning the judging competitions were completed. The light horses were the last to be undertaken, and the placing of the animals after the competition was done by the well known expert, Mr. Kidd. In the main building Miss Rose continued her butter making demonstration, and in the women's department Miss Blanche Maddock gave a talk on pastry and jam making.

Broncho Busting.
The second day's broncho-busting at the exhibition while, perhaps, not as good as on the opening day, was full of excitement and interest. Several of the freshest ponies were brought out and tackled by the daring riders. Two of the contestants found their mounts too much for them and were humiliated in the dust much to the satisfaction of the sportsmen present, who like to bet even on horse and man.

Roan, 373, the hardest little mare of the bunch, was successfully ridden by Blatchford, of Calgary, who had a thrilling experience. The roan did not require any persuasion to buck and, as soon as Blatchford was seated, went off in a series of convulsions and contortions that tested his skill to the limit. The Calgary man, however, busted his broncho in the same way that he handled Sockeye on the opening day of the contest.

Tom Graham, of Monte Creek, had a most exciting time with Shuswap. After cavorting about the enclosure for a couple of minutes the broncho decided that the corral was the best place for it and made for the gate on the run. Before anyone could remove the barriers, horse and rider broke clean through them and the excited and cheering crowd were treated to the unusual spectacle of a cow-puncher sitting wild horse amid a dozen plunging ponies. Although Shuswap fell, Graham retained his seat among the kicking ponies.

Francis Basil, of Kamloops, who rode the roan on Wednesday, found Chil-liwack Cherub a tougher customer than his name implied and, after keeping his seat for a very short time, came a cropper by the inside fence. Oliver Walker, of Douglas Lake, who was thrown from the roan on Wednesday, had a further misfortune. While his pony was against the fence, giving him considerable trouble he suddenly went to the ground, from all appearances being thrown. He claims, however, that his "chaps" caught in the fence wires and pulled him from his saddle.

Hans Ritcher, the champion of Keremeos, gave one of his usual fine exhibitions of reckless, though clever riding. He sat on one of the freshest ponies on the ground with comparative ease, and broke it effectively. Some of the bronchos were not in the pink of condition and it appeared that they had been allowed to kick much of their vim out of them. Roan, 373, should prove almost unridable if perfectly fresh, and of some of the other bronchos the same thing might be said.

EXHIBITION NOTES.

The judges of the ladies' department were Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Fraser. In some of the classes they had a difficult task in deciding the winners. The bread in this department goes to the Old Men's Home.

The fruit was expected to place the fruit was taken from the city, anderson and A. Olson, both of this city, kindly consented to do the work. There are a good many complaints about the placing of the sidings, so near the entrance to the exhibition main building. The Mayor says this still is much better than last year when all were crowded into the small enclosure just inside the gates. The throwing of confetti has caused a good many growls, especially from the flower exhibitors. In some places it can be cleaned up but the flowers cannot be shaken or swept at this stage in the proceedings.

James Townsend and H. A. King carried off most of the prizes in the grain department, but there was a fine sample of black oats shown by T. W. Paterson.

Considerable amusement was caused this morning by the attempt of some boys to train a white Willie goat to draw a cart. Two or three boys were thrown out of the rig and then the attempt was abandoned. Billie won. William Noble and Donald McCaskill took the first prizes for peaches early and late.

TRIBUTE TO ENGLISH CHURCHES.

"There is no doubt in my mind that the English clergyman enjoys a distinct advantage over the American." This statement was made to a representative of the London Daily Mail by Mgr. O'Connell, rector of the Cathedral in Washington, and one of the greatest and most revered exponents of Catholicism in America. Mgr. O'Connell is spending a three weeks' holiday in London.

"Everything in your English churches tends naturally toward that spiritual repose of mind with which an effective preacher must necessarily be imbued. When I enter Westminster Abbey or St. Paul's Cathedral I am struck dumb with admiration; the very spirit of religion seems to shine down upon me through the noble stained-glass windows.

"One cannot help being inspired in English houses of worship, so pregnant are they with holy and historic associations. A preacher here has but to stand within the pulpit to find himself a part of the great work which it is his duty to expound."

"But in America all is different. There everything tends towards individualism. Our churches were built yesterday, and by men with whom we might almost have shaken hands."

PROVINCIAL C. E. OPEN CONVENTION

Inspiring Addresses Delivered at Initial Gathering Held Last Evening—Open Air Meeting
on the Street.

Over two hundred delegates were in attendance at the opening session of the first annual convention held by the British Columbia Christian Endeavor Union at the Metropolitan Methodist church last evening. Addresses of welcome were tendered to the visitors by Rev. T. W. Gladstone, Mayor Morley and Edward Lamphire, president of the local C. E. union, to which Rev. W. H. Barracough, of New Westminster, responded. An address from the president, Rev. Le Roy Dakin, and a very fine address on "Canada's Greatest Asset," by Rev. Robert Milliken, of Wesley Methodist church, Vancouver, were listened to with great attention by all present.

Rev. T. W. Gladstone. Owing to the unavoidable detention of Mayor Morley on official business, the address of welcome to the delegates which he was down to give on behalf of the city, was postponed until the end of the programme. In his absence, Rev. T. W. Gladstone, president welcomed the delegates as representatives of various churches. In remarking upon the gratifying attendance at the convention, the first convention of the provincial union, he referred to the way in which the spirit of the young people was making itself felt in the churches. The younger generation might look on the elders and think that they were getting to be "old fogies" in their ways and manners and thoughts. And sometimes the "old fogies" looked back on the days of their youth when there was a keener domestic interest, a deeper household interest, in religion and in doing so they thought that the good old times were the best. Sometimes they even looked toward the future with apprehension. Yet, when the "old fogies" saw such a gathering of earnest young workers before them as was represented at the convention he was addressing, they felt that they had no right to fear for the future and no right to be pessimistic. The young people might think that the church had fallen into ruts and perhaps, in some things it had. It was for the young people to pull the chariot out of the rut, and he felt confident in their ability to do so.

In his closing remarks the speaker referred to the motto of the union, "Training for Service." The young people were training for service in their societies and training for the best of service. The duties that would come to them would come out of their great chapter of the work of salvation. With such a band of workers at hand the church, he was glad beyond measure to say, need have no fear. Rev. Gladstone then accorded the delegates a hearty welcome and expressed the wish that their stay in the city would be profitable and enjoyable.

Edward Lamphire. Edward Lamphire, president of the local C. E. union, extended a welcome on behalf of that body. He also referred to the motto of the movement. In his opinion a convention was among the best methods of training that young people could adopt as the exchange of ideas and greetings stimulated all concerned to fit themselves for their work.

Rev. W. H. Barracough. Rev. W. H. Barracough, of New Westminster, replied to the addresses of welcome. In opening he passed a neat compliment on Victoria, "the ideal convention city" as it is known to church workers. While all the delegates had the keenest interest in their respective home localities and placed them above all other places for personal sentiment and other reasons he felt sure that all would agree that Victoria, the Queen Capital, was the world's ideal city to reside in. He paid tribute to the city's general morality and said that Mayor Morley had proved himself a fearless executive head while he had been in office and had done all possible to keep the city clean. To the local pastors he also expressed his appreciation of the great work they had done.

The speaker then dealt with the work of the Christian Endeavor movement, saying that it stood for an united church against an united foe. The movement, in company with the great International Sunday-school movement, was doing a very large part of the churches' work. In the present convention the delegates would feel they were most happily situated when holding their sessions in the Metropolitan church, which was the pioneer Methodist church of the province, and one of the pioneer churches of Protestantism also. The pioneers of the older churches were rapidly, far too rapidly, vanishing from sight. He hoped that their memory would live long and that the young people would always seek to emulate the good example they had set.

Rev. Le Roy Dakin. Rev. Le Roy Dakin, B. A., president of the British Columbia Christian Endeavor Union, delivered an excellent address, covering the history of the C. E. movement in the province. He said that he would divide his address into ten chapters, commencing with "ancient history." In 1893 the provincial Endeavor union was first organized and the ninth annual convention was held in New Westminster in 1902. It was a good convention, both as regards attendance and enthusiasm. There were 100 delegates present and many affiliated societies were represented. James McIntosh, of Victoria, was elected president and Miss Margaret McLean, of Vancouver, was appointed secretary, with Miss Blackwood, of Victoria, treasurer. Considerable enthusiasm was displayed in the work, and two very important resolutions were passed. These resolutions were that a convention should be held once every two years and that the next convention should take place in Victoria in 1904. This was where the second chapter started, and he called it "the thing that did not happen."

It was the 1904 convention that did not happen and the reason why it was not held was that the officers had gone away. That convention died an unnatural, painful and untimely death. The third chapter, "Born Again," opened in the spring of 1906 when the local union endeavored to bring about a convention. The convention was called at New Westminster in October of that year and the speaker was the only Victoria delegate to attend it. He was appointed president and Miss Graham, of Vancouver, was made secretary. This lady resigned shortly afterwards and the present secretary, Miss Irene G. Pickard, took her place. After covering the history of the movement that led up to the present convention, the speaker dealt with present questions. Many of the young people's societies had not yet affiliated themselves with the union, but the work was slowly going on and he looked forward to the time when they would all be in co-operation. The reason why the work of affiliation had gone on so slowly was that the union was short of funds to spread the literature necessary for the propagation of its work and there was a general ignorance of the work that the union was doing. The young movement had, however, attained its majority and had inherited a rich inheritance.

Rev. Mr. Dakin then presented some statistics showing that the union had an inheritance of 15,000 church-goers with 450 preaching places and 140 self-supporting churches. There were 78 societies in existence, 66 of which were senior organizations. The active members numbered 2,000, while the associate members numbered 400. Thus there was an average of 23 members for each society. The opportunity was knocking at the door for the movement to have a great membership. If they could get one society out of every two of the self-supporting churches they would have a total of 104 societies, and if they could get one society out of every ten missions in the province they could obtain 31, giving the total number of societies to be 135. On a very conservative basis they could obtain a membership of 4,600.

That was what the Christian Endeavorers ought to strive for; it was their glorious opportunity. They should strive for the affiliation of all existing societies and the formation of many new ones. If this was done the union would grow strong and far-reaching in its influence.

Rev. Mr. Milliken. Rev. Robert Milliken, pastor of Wesley Methodist church, Vancouver, and a new-comer to the province, delivered a very strong address on "Canada's Greatest Asset." He termed his address "The Political Assignment of the Programme." He did not know how those who had drawn up the programme wished him to handle the subject they had given to him, but he was got in any way afraid to express his own opinions on it because he had always believed that the greatest asset of a nation was the moral character of its people. Canada's greatness rested not upon industrial activity or commercial and financial supremacy, but upon the men and women who were strong enough to sacrifice all for the ideals of national, as well as individual, character. That was the asset of Canada and it was the duty of all to see that this asset increased. Ideal conditions did not exist in any country, or in any city, not even in Victoria. (Laughter). Upon the latter question he would not dogmatize for dogmatizing was always the crying sin of pastors.

The speaker then pointed out the way in which the young people's societies, as represented in the Christian Endeavor movement, could help to increase Canada's asset. It was necessary for these societies to have the broadest basis of work and the highest personal ideal of individual character in order to accomplish their end. He did not think that the basis upon which the societies were run at the present time was broad enough. It did not allow of them reaching every class of people as it should. He thought that all young people should be educated in their societies to realization of what was best in national spirit, and should take a keen interest in all public affairs. There was no child's task before the Christian Endeavor movement in accomplishing its object, and he felt glad that this task was being approached with confidence. The speaker referred to what he termed the two greatest problems before the Dominion. They were the present immigration of thousands from all countries and the dearth of public men. In the first case the young people's societies could do much toward welding the incoming foreigners into a homogeneous mass and instilling them with British ideas and ideals. By keeping moral issues before them in all public matters, the young people's societies could also have a great influence in bringing out the best citizens to fill places of trust and responsibility. (Applause).

Mayor Morley. Mayor Morley, who arrived toward the close of the session, then took the platform amid an ovation, and welcomed the delegates to the city. He spoke of the want of endeavor which was, in his opinion, plainly evidenced by men and women when giving their decision upon moral issues. He agreed with Mr. Milliken that Canada's great need was of public men. Not leaders as much as supporters, for a good leader, no matter how strong and intellectual he was, could do nothing without the support of the majority. If nine-tenths of the body politic was rotten, the tenth part was powerless. To illustrate what this meant to the country he pointed out that the people might elect an executive head pledged to certain high ideals and principles, and yet surround him with men of such character that he could get no support in moral questions from them, thus preventing the leader from ever accomplishing the good work he had pledged to attempt. This held good in municipal as well as national politics. In welcoming the delegates to Victoria the Mayor expressed confidence that they would leave a good impression on the community, and hoped that they would also receive a reciprocal impression of mutual benefit. Victoria needed but one thing, and that was a stronger spirit of Christian Endeavor along all lines of work. He felt sure that the convention signified the strengthening of this endeavor for the good of the city in all things.

During the session Miss Caton rendered "Jesu Lover of My Soul" in an acceptable manner, and a male quartette sang "While the Days Are Going By" in a very pleasing style. The session closed at 10.25 p.m.

Open Air Meeting. An open air meeting was held at the corner of Government and Yates streets from 6.30 to 7.15 p.m., under the direction of A. J. Brace. There was a large choir of Christian Endeavorers, and the meeting was an enthusiastic and helpful one. A rousing address was delivered by Rev. Merton Smith, of Vancouver. A feature of the meeting was the singing of the male quartette from the Congregational church in Vancouver, of which Mr. Smith is pastor. There will be another meeting this evening at the same place and time, when the quartette will again lead the singing, and the address will be delivered by Rev. A. W. McLeod, of Nanaimo.

THE BAKERIES, "LIMITED"

VICTORIA has long needed a thoroughly up-to-date Steam Bakery. A Company has been formed to acquire the bread businesses of M. R. Smith & Co., and the Capital City Bakery.

MOST undertakings require a large sum of money to operate same, but this is one that will only require a comparatively small amount. The authorized capital of the Company is $25,000, but of this amount only $20,000 is being placed on the market. The vendors, for their stock in trade, get $2,500 in cash and $4,000 stock in the Company now being formed, and the balance of the $18,000 has been offered to the citizens of Victoria.

DO NOT FORGET THE ADDRESS, WHERE YOU CAN LEAVE YOUR APPLICATION FOR SHARES IN THIS NEWLY FORMED COMPANY.

OF this amount, between $11,000 and $12,000 has been subscribed, so that those who want to own some stock in "The Bakeries, Limited," will have to apply right away, or same will have all been disposed of. A lot has been secured on the railway track close to Russell Street Station (on William Street), tenders will soon be called for, and a thoroughly up to date plant with steam ovens, capable of making 5,000 loaves of bread daily, will be installed. The building is being erected on the line of railway, so as to avoid the expense of carting flour, wood, coal, etc.

WITH the amalgamation of these two old established businesses and the putting in of a large steam bread making plant, a large saving will be effected in the labor bill, also in having only one set of wagons covering the ground. A business of nearly 3,000 loaves of bread daily will be taken over from these two concerns. This is an extremely valuable asset, and the new Company will start business under very favorable auspices.

DENOMINATIONAL RALLIES CLOSED

Methodist and Baptist Young People Held Final Meetings of Their Convention

The final meeting in connection with the Methodist Young People's rally was held in the Metropolitan church yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of delegates, and the proceedings were marked with enthusiasm.

Rev. J. A. Doyle, field secretary of the Epworth Leagues, was the principal speaker. He gave an interesting resume of the history of the forward movement for missions in the Methodist church, and urged the convention to undertake this systematic plan. The districts of Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster had been organized for this purpose, and it was hoped that the Methodist Young People of British Columbia would eventually support three missionaries in foreign lands.

The question of the formation of a Conference Epworth League for British Columbia was then brought forward, and after thorough discussion it was decided to proceed with the organization. A nominating committee was appointed and the following officers elected: Hon. president, Rev. A. M. Sanford, B.A., B.D.; president, Rev. W. H. Barracough, B.A.; 1st vice-president, W. R. Manson; 2nd vice-president, Rev. Jno. Robson, B.A.; 3rd vice-president, W. Skinner; 4th vice-president, Miss Aubin; 5th vice-president, Rev. J. P. Westman; secretary, Rev. A. E. Roberts, Victoria, B.C.; treasurer, L. C. Kyle, Vancouver, B.C. Representative to the general board of Epworth Leagues, Rev. A. M. Sanford.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. G. K. B. Adams and the officers of the Metropolitan church for their kind hospitality to the delegates. The presence of Rev. J. A. Doyle as a visitor to the convention was noted, and a vote of appreciation of his services to the Methodist section was unanimously passed.

On motion of Rev. A. E. Roberts, seconded by Rev. R. Wilkinson, the support of the convention was given to Seattle Epworth Leaguers in their effort to secure the International Epworth League convention of 1907 for that progressive city.

The members of the Victoria district present met for the purpose of organizing a district Epworth League, and the following officers were elected: Hon. president, Rev. S. J. Thompson; president, W. R. Manson; 1st vice-president, Miss Aubin; 2nd vice-president, H. Smith; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Dever; 4th vice-president, Miss Monro; 5th vice-president, Miss Whitehead; secretary, Miss Whitehead, Victoria; treasurer, Rev. R. Wilkinson, Ladysmith; district campaigner, Rev. J. Robson, B.A., representative to the Conference League, W. A. Deaville, Baptist Union.

Yesterday the delegates in attendance at the Baptist Young People's Union listened to very interesting papers, which provoked instructive discussions. At the afternoon meeting Rev. Christopher Burnett gave a Bible reading, "The Holy Spirit for Service," which was calculated to do much to elevate the young life of the church. He admonished his hearers to follow the guidance of the Holy Spirit in all things, throwing off all sin which was revealed to them.

The Bible Readers' Course, a paper by R. L. Duark, of New Westminster, was an excellent one. A free discussion followed, led by Rev. A. W. McLeod, of Nanaimo.

As the result of an address by Rev. E. LeRoy Dakin on the International B. Y. P. U. Christian Course, it was decided to adopt the course in the different unions.

The study of missions was ably introduced by Clyde E. Van de Maaten, of Louisville, Kentucky, who led in a conference on "Conquest Missionary Course." The speaker gave the convention the advantage of his intimate study of the subject, the address being listened to with great interest by all.

In the afternoon the proceedings were opened with a Bible reading by Rev. Alexander Anderson, of Chemainus. "What the B. Y. P. U. Stands For" was the subject of an excellent address by Rev. J. Sherman Wallace, of Tacoma. The speaker advocated strongly the most influencing loyalty to the Master. He pointed out that the young people should live earnest, consistent Christian lives.

Papers were read from the Calvary church union on "The Essentials of a Worthful B. Y. P. U." by Stanley Patch and Dr. W. Russell.

An interesting discussion followed, led by R. W. Coleman.

Before concluding a resolution was passed urging the western provinces to unite in placing a field secretary at work to organize the new fields so rapidly opening out.

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH

Will Sail From England Next Month For a Long Visit to Her Mother.

New York, Sept. 27.—It is understood that the Duchess of Marlborough has informed her friends in New York that she will sail for this country from England on October 15th for a long visit with her mother, Mrs. Oliver H. Belmont. She did not say whether she would bring with her two sons, the Marquis of Blandford and Lord Ivor Churchill, but it thought only the youngest will come. Under the terms of her separation from the Duke she has the exclusive charge of them. The Duchess visited America in 1906 when she paid a brief visit to her mother at Newport and Hempstead, Long Island.

CONVENTION OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The Annual Meeting Will Be Held in New Westminster Next Week.

The fourth annual convention of British Columbia school trustees will be held in New Westminster on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 30th and October 1st and 2nd. The programme is as follows:

Monday, 9.30 a. m.
Enrolment of members; appointment of committees; perfecting organization.

Resolved: That this institute strongly favors, where practicable, the centralization of schools.

Resolved: That the provincial government be asked to allow a small sum yearly to assist all rural schools in securing a school library.

Resolved: That in the interests of public education the private schools should submit yearly or oftener the attendance of pupils on their roll.

Resolved: That the government be asked to provide for a flag for all rural schools.

Resolved: That the necessity be urged upon the government of a thorough and systematic medical examination of all public school children and teachers.

Resolved: That our educational interests would be best conserved by having reciprocity between the provinces in the matter of school teachers and teachers.

Resolved: That a uniform qualification for teachers and grading of pupils throughout the Dominion would be beneficial.

Resolved: That it would be in the interests of the Empire to have one universal text book.

Address by Dr. Scott, city school superintendent, Calgary, Alta., subject: "The Efficiency of the Teacher and How to Determine It."

Paper by J. C. Fagan, M. D., subject, "Are Hygiene and Public Health Sufficiently Taught in Our Public Schools; Is Our Medical Health Inspection Sufficient?" Address by Rev. Dr. Fraser, subject, "What the Child Has a Right to Expect of the State."

Tuesday, 9.30 a. m.
Resolved: That the council of public instruction be urged to amend the regulations so as to permit teachers who have taught successfully a number of years to write on a part of the additional subjects yearly till a first-class certificate is obtained.

Resolved: That strong pressure should be brought upon the government urging that now the time has fully arrived when the public and high school text books should be much cheapened; preferably that the government own the copyright and sell to school boards at slightly over cost of production.

Resolved: That more attention should be given to teaching self-government and civics in our schools, and that generally the surroundings can be beautified and improved.

Election of officers and arrangements for next convention.
Tuesday, 7.30 p. m.
Addresses by Hon. Richard McBride.

member of British Columbia; Hon. Dr. Young, minister of education; Alex. Robinson, B. A., superintendent of education; Rev. Mr. Henderson and others.
Wednesday, 9.30 a. m.

Resolved: That the government be urged to amend the School Act for the purpose of increasing the grants to smaller municipalities.

Remarks by the secretary of association, "Personal Experience in Visiting Schools in Five Provinces and in the Southern Republic; Some Respects in Which the School Administration is Better Than Ours."

Resolved: That our schools should teach more along industrial and agricultural and less along purely mercantile lines; that education should centre more towards rural and less around city life.

Resolved: That the efficiency of our rural schools may be increased; what the steps are, Trustee E. M. Wiltshire.

Wednesday, 7.30 p. m.
Additional resolutions; unfinished business; question drawer.

Reports of special committees.
Resolved: That the government be requested to amend, or strike out, section 42 of the School Act, to make it compulsory for the municipal council to provide funds to the amount of the estimates passed as stated in section 42.

Resolved: That the government be urged to provide equipment for manual training centres in the various school districts.

AN INSIGNIA OF POWER.

With the seasons upside down as they are at present, people are beginning to realize the absolute necessity of never sitting out of doors without an umbrella. If social history is to be trusted, the first Englishman to carry an umbrella was one Hanway, who lived at the end of the eighteenth century. At first he was regarded as an eccentric individual, but by degrees many discovered much method in his madness, and before he died in 1786 the fashion he set was adopted by society in general. Of course, Hanway was not the originator of the umbrella. Among the Greeks and Romans some such article was very common, though oddly enough it was regarded as a purely feminine appendage, and one which men might never condescend to adopt. But all over the East the umbrella has for generations been well known as an insignia of power and royalty. Thus, on the sculptured remains of Egyptian temples one sees representations of kings going in procession with umbrellas carried over their heads. Even in India, to-day, some of the great Maharajas still call themselves "Lords of the Umbrella," and in an address presented by the King of Burmah to the viceroy of India in 1855, the British representative is described as the "monarch who reigns over the great umbrella wearing chiefs of the East." One has only to walk through the streets of an Indian town to-day to see how important a social distinction the umbrella has become. For a native to go without an umbrella in the streets of Calcutta, for instance, is practically a mark of degradation.—London Globe.

This country now has 200,000 school buildings, where 200,000 teachers are busy, with nearly 18,000,000 pupils.

THE PROFITS OF PIPE LINE COMPANY

Made Over Four Millions on an Investment of Two and a Quarter Millions.

New York, Sept. 26.—The Indiana Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company, made a profit of $4,091,022 in 1903 on a total investment of $2,228,748, according to the company's figures, produced by George Chesebro, controller of the National Pipe Line Company, who appeared as a witness in the federal suit to-day against the combine. Mr. Chesebro testified that the Indiana Pipe Line Company was a common carrier and engaged only in the transportation of oil.

From balance sheets of the company, Frank B. Kellogg, conducting the government case, sought to show that the Indiana company was making excessive profits, and that it maintained a high schedule of tariffs to prevent shipments of oil of the independent oil producers. Mr. Chesebro testified that the Indiana company transported oil of the Standard company. The counsel for the government alleged that it will be shown that the returns shown by this pipe line company have in some cases been 20 times the actual cost of operation.

Calvin H. Payne, who, with H. C. Folger, Jr., owns the Corsicana Refining company, under examination to-day, stated that tanks and receiving stations at the end of the pipe line of the new York Transit Company, now called the National Transit Company of New Jersey, and at the terminals of the pipe lines of the National Transit Company at Centre Bridge, Pa., and Frond Grove, Pa., were built the year the Hepburn law went into effect.

Mr. Payne was stating that he supposed there was some legal reason for building these receiving stations on the state lines of New York and New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland, when John G. Milburn, chief of the defendants' counsel, interposed and said he gave the advice.

Mr. Milburn, in cross-examining the witness, developed the testimony that the pipe lines connecting the terminals at Unionville, Centre Bridge and Fond Grove, with tidewater at New York and Baltimore were the three private lines of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and were not public carriers.

Mr. Payne said that the National and New York companies were prepared to accept business over the lines and to deliver it at their receiving stations. John D. Archibald, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, issued a general notice to-day that false and injurious statements were being scattered broadcast as from a "representative of the Standard Oil Company," and warning the public that no credit should be given to any statement pur-

RECORD CROWDS WITNESS RACES

INTERESTING EVENTS AT FALL FAIR MEET

Welsh in the Visitors' Purse Establishes Half Mile Record For N. W. P. Circuit.

If the measure of success which attends an undertaking can be gauged by the number of people present, the sport provided, and the enthusiasm evinced, then yesterday's race meet, held in connection with the great provincial exhibition, must be pronounced par excellence, a record breaking achievement. Fully 6,000 people witnessed the racing and the action of the officials in pulling off the different events with such promptitude cannot be too highly commended.

Of course there were a few hitches. A couple of ill starts were effected in the galloping races. Discontented spirits, among those who owned, rode, and backed horses, which they thought the judges, the starter, may the very gods should have spoon fed to victory, vented their spleen in a manner as un-British as it was inexcusable. But the walling of the malcontents was lost in the almost spontaneous enthusiasm with which the spectators enjoyed themselves, and the happy manner and native courtesy with which they forgave any peccadilloes on the part of the race track officials.

A happy feature of the meeting was the large attendance of the fair sex. To say the grand stand was black with people is a misnomer. It radiated with color. Summer dresses in keeping with the beautiful weather were seen on every hand, and in many instances their fair wearers were as discriminating about the horse flesh, and as enthusiastic over the result of each event, as the attendants who lumbered to and fro across the course chewing a piece of straw and exuding equine gracefulness.

The going on the track was perhaps better than on the previous day. The number of spectators was double that of Wednesday. The sport provided was equally good. Add to these facts the weather, which was infinitely better than the preceding day, and the contributory causes which made for the record success are apparent.

In the racing itself there were many features of interest. A new track record for the northwest Pacific circuit was established in the Visitors' Purse, a four-furlong gallop. Betsey, owned by T. Fitzgerald, and ridden by Thurston, reeled off the distance in 54.4 seconds, winning in a canter by three lengths from Youth with Ed Davis, third, two lengths away. In this race the start was a fiasco. Two of the animals had their tails to the barrier when the gate went up, two others were badly mixed together, and only three of the nags got away with anything like a winning chance. In four furlongs races, the shortest there are, too much care cannot be exercised with the start, as if a horse does not get away with its field it is almost certain anything to say to the finish are infinitesimal.

The seven furlong gallop for the Grandstand Purse was one of the best of the day. All the animals got away well together though in rounding the first bend they were stretched out in a long line. Hobson's Choice took the lead early and down the back stretch was going at a fast pace. Legal Form then showed in front with Maxtrese lying handy in third position. In this order they raced down the back stretch for the second time. Coming into the straight, Maxtrese, with a great burst of speed, raced to the front, and never being headed again, was going at a length to spare from El Chihuahuas. Legal Form was third, one and a half lengths away. The time was fast, the distance being covered in 1 minute 33.5 seconds.

The mile race for the Victoria Purse was a foregone conclusion on the appearance of the horses. Rudabeck was without a peer in the field. And the trust reposed in him, for he was a red hot favorite, was justified, as he won in the commonest of canter by over two lengths. Silver Wedding was second, and Rosalie third, the time for the mile being 1 minute 45 seconds, fast going on a circular track.

The B. C. colt race of four furlongs resolved itself into a struggle between two animals. Three started, but Ben Blacksmith, driven by Lin Bang, was hopelessly tailed off from the rise of the barrier. B. C. Pride fought it out with Pede, the former winning by half a length after an interesting struggle.

The race was run in two heats, the same result prevailing in each. The times were exceptionally slow, being 1 minute 12.2 seconds, and 1 minute 22 seconds, respectively.

An extra race was provided on the card for non-winners during the day. The distance was half a mile and Miss Provo, who has already earned winning brackets on the Victoria track was sent to the fore. Callis was second, and Hobson's Choice third, the time being 51.5 seconds.

In the trotting races there was no particular feature of interest. False starts were the order of the day and in this respect it would seem that the judges are far too lenient in the matter of penalizing. In the second heat of the 2:29 trot, Directone finished first, but was disqualified for breaking on no fewer than five occasions. This animal eventually won the event, being credited with three wins out of the five heats.

The proceedings were further enlivened by a Klootchman's race in which three of the fierce-looking females bedecked in all the gaudy war colors of their tribe, bestrode three animals which from appearance should have long since been out at grass. The gallop round the track was not exciting although picturesque and when the raw-boned nags passed the post it was difficult to tell which of the gaily ribboned riders had annexed the spoils. The Klootchman were quite unconcerned with the jeering remarks of the spectators, and strode down the course after the all right signal had been given, with an unconcern which Tod

Sloan, in his palmist moments, would have envied.

The following are the full results of the events of the day:

NOVEL TESTS FOR TRUTH.
 American Professor Claims to Read the Mind by Machinery.

Details were made known in New York recently concerning certain machine tests for the credibility of witnesses made by Professor Munsterberg, of Harvard University. The professor has been experimenting on Harry Orchard, whose self-confessed crimes at the recent Idaho murder trial made such a sensation.

Professor Munsterberg used three machines to ascertain whether Orchard's sensational testimony was credible. Dr. Munsterberg's impression was that Orchard told the truth, but the professor has announced that he would state his conclusions later in a treatise which he hoped would show an advanced step in determining the credibility of testimony in criminal trials.

Professor Munsterberg's testing machines consisted, first, of an autograph, which records the involuntary writhings of suspects through the sensations which are communicated through the arm; second, of a pneumograph which records normal breathing and any variation caused by emotional suggestion; third, of a sphymograph which attached to the wrist, records the heart beats.

It is the inventor's belief that these instruments will quite accurately disclose the credibility of witnesses, especially when the examining psychologist has a fair knowledge of the scenes of the crime.

AIR CURES CONSUMPTION
 AND WATER CURES CONSTIPATION.

But get the right kind of both. The mountain breezes, as they blow in the Laurentians—light, dry, pure, exhilarating—that is the air that heals the lungs. NOT the air we find in the by-ways and slums of the cities.

It is the GENUINE HUNYADI János that cures Consumption, Biliousness, Indigestion, Headache, and other Stomach, Liver and Bowel Troubles—NOT the imitations or substitutes said to be "just as good" or "just the same."

Hunyadi János has become famous all over the world as the most valuable health-giving mineral water, and has established the fact that it is no longer necessary to weaken the liver and bowels and rack the system with drugs in order to "cure" constipation.

It is Hunyadi János alone that acts gently and beneficially.

All druggists sell it. Try a small bottle, it costs but a trifle.

NATURAL LABYRINTH.

One of the curiosities of Northern Bohemia is the Rocky Maze of Prachov, near Jach, which has been described as a gigantic freak of nature—a practical joke in stone. To enter the labyrinth without a guide is dangerous, for one would probably be lost in the windings of the maze, where the paths are so narrow and tortuous and the cliffs on either side so high that one soon loses all idea of locality. In the days of the Moravian and Bohemian Brothers secret prayer meetings used to be held here, just as the early Christians assembled to worship in the Catacombs. The cliffs are honeycombed with cells, and at the far end of the maze is a rock castle where in old days a robber baron lived and took toll of all wayfarers. The shape of some of the rocks is very curious; there are, for instance, the "Bishop and Mitre," the "Madonna and Child," and many others.

MANUFACTURERS ELECT OFFICERS

THE ADMISSION OF JAPANESE TO CANADA

Many in Favor of Asiatics—The Question of Tariff—Old Country Immigration

Toronto, Sept. 26.—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association to-day elected the following officers: President, Hon. J. D. Rolland, Montreal; vice president, John Hendry, Vancouver.

An animated discussion arose over the Japanese question, many favoring admitting Asiatics. A resolution was finally passed asking the government to consider very carefully before abrogating the treaty.

That the governments, both provincial and Dominion, fear the labor party's vote was the opinion expressed at the meeting of the parliamentary committee of the association, yesterday. The manufacturers lay the whole blame for the dearth of skilled workmen amongst the British immigrants at the doors of the government and the labor party. Many were the heated remarks when it was pointed out in the committee's report that the government could offer little help for the situation.

To pay a commission for bringing out laborers, and to refuse to pay it for bringing out artisans would indicate that in the opinion of the government the man who digs a ditch is worth more to Canada than the man who builds a house," said Secretary Rogers.

T. J. Thorne, of Toronto, said the views taken by the government was that the taxpayers' money should not be used to bring out men who will compete with them in their trades. The tendency seems to be for neither party to depend on the labor vote for election, he said. "Statistics show that there are only 50,000 organized labor men in Canada, and that consequently the vote is not of much consequence. Mr. Thorne reminded the association of how the Trades and Labor convention at Winnipeg censured the C. M. A. for appointing Louis Leopold as their London agent. Their tendency evidently is to suspect incoming skilled artisans to compete with them."

The association yesterday defeated a motion to cut out the clause reflecting on the courage of the Dominion government in carrying out its tariff policy. The effect of the tariff report, which was adopted without alteration, and of the discussion, was that the committee should get to work immediately to secure a tariff which would furnish relief to industries at present said to be suffering from unequal competition.

Last evening the members and their lady friends attended the theatre.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Minister Correa, of Nicaragua, and Minister Mejia, of Salvador, called at the state department to-day and discussed with Acting Secretary Bacon the approaching conference to arrange a permanent peace treaty.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION.

London, Sept. 26.—Baron Komura, the Japanese ambassador, and the foreign office say the issue between Japan and Canada over the admission of Japanese to Canada has not yet become an imperial question to be dealt with by the authorities. They point out that the negotiations are confined to Ottawa, and that meantime Baron Komura has not had occasion to present a proposal from the Tokyo government for the adjustment of the Japanese labor situation in Canada.

CUT IN ATLANTIC FARES.

Hamburg, Sept. 26.—The Hamburg-American line has announced further reductions on tickets to New York. For first class passengers they amount to $5 and $10, and on second class tickets from $2.50 to $5 according to the steamer.

WINNIPEG NOTES.

Dr. Gunn Appointed Medical Superintendent of Hospital—New Luxton Memorial School.

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—Dr. John Gunn, the well known city doctor, will be appointed medical superintendent of the general hospital, succeeding Dr. Campbell, resigned.

Sir Arthur Birch and Lady Birch left to-day for the East, and will sail from Montreal for London on the Empress of Ireland on October 4th.

The corner stone of the new Luxton memorial school will be laid with appropriate ceremonies by J. A. McKeehan, chairman of the school board, on Saturday.

TO INSPECT LINE.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Collingwood Schrieber leaves on Saturday for inspection of the Grand Trunk Pacific from Winnipeg to Edmonton.

The marriage on Sept. 11th of Zelle de Lussan, the opera singer, to Angelo Promidi, an Italian pianist, was announced in London on Wednesday. The latter is described as the son of Emmanuel Promidi, who is in the diplomatic service at Washington. The couple are on board the Adriatic on their way to New York.

Barley, Bread and Beer

These three words are derived from the same Anglo Saxon root—breowan. All three are foods. Barley, a grain that makes both bread and beer. Bread, a solid food. Beer, a liquid food.

In making bread, flour and yeast are used; in making beer, barley-malt, hops and yeast are used. The same principle is in each—both are wholesome foods.

In Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer the Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process matures the malt slowly and uniformly, thus transforming every particle of nutriment in the barley into perfect food substances.

To these are added the invigorating properties of the choicest hops, by the Pabst brewing process, which insures absolute purity.

Your system requires a liquid. Why not use one that is both food and drink—

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

The special value of Pabst Blue Ribbon at meals is that it encourages the fluids of the stomach to reader action—thus aiding you to get the fullest nourishment from your food.

You can prove the value of Pabst Blue Ribbon as a food, by ordering a case today for home use.

INVESTIGATING BRIDGE DISASTER

COMMISSION CONCLUDES WORK AT OTTAWA

Chairman Says Greatest Care Was Taken to Secure Permanency and Safety.

(Special to the Times).
Ottawa, Sept. 27.—Henry Holgate, chairman of the Quebec bridge royal commission, on being interviewed today said that so far the commission had not discovered one dishonest act in connection with the whole undertaking. Every one seemed to have been doing his very best to insure success. The greatest care was taken to secure permanency and safety and the plans and specifications were prepared by the best engineers on the continent. It was a case of where the best engineering methods were on trial, the procedure by the government was regular.

Evidence of R. S. Douglas.
Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The Quebec bridge commission concluded taking evidence this morning and will now proceed to New York and Phoenixville.

Commissioner Holgate made a statement that whatever the causes of the disaster, at all events there was no evidence of carelessness on the part of those responsible for the bridge. The plans, specifications and the work showed throughout that the engineers in charge had brought the greatest care and the fullest knowledge that they possessed to bear on their task.

R. L. Douglas, bridge expert of the railways and canals department, was examined in connection with the bridge. He explained he had been consulted on the original plans, but had not gone into these very fully because he understood them to be merely for the purposes of tender. On August 15th last an order-in-council approved Mr. Cooper's proposed changes in the line of loadings. This change was due to the action of the bridge company in increasing the length of the centre span from 1,600 to 1,800 feet. Whether that loading was advisable or correct, Mr. Douglas said, was a matter of opinion. The strain sheets in the bridge plan were not checked over in detail in the railway department because there was no one to do it. Mr. Douglas was not at all apprehensive of the safety of the lower chord members of the bridge.

In reply to a question Mr. Douglas said he did not understand that for all practical purposes in connection with plans and construction of the bridge, Mr. Cooper might be considered as acting engineer in charge for the department of railways.

STANDARD OIL CASE.

Evidence Regarding Operating Costs and Profits of Pipe Line Companies.

New York, Sept. 27.—Geo. Chesebro, controller of many of the subsidiary pipe line companies of the Standard Oil Co., took the stand today in the government suit against the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey, to give testimony regarding the operating costs and profits of the pipe line companies.

Mr. Kellogg questioned the witness regarding the Buckeye Pipe Line Co. "I notice the following loans made by the Buckeye Pipe Line Co., as shown by the balance sheets of the Buckeye Co.: In 1889, $2,175,415; 1890, $5,231,237; 1891, $5,630,818; 1892, $5,115,133; 1893, $4,515,488; 1894, $5,380,228; 1895, $4,616,514. What were these loans?" asked Mr. Kellogg. "They represented funds on deposit with the National Transit Co."

"You carried these loans as an asset?" "Yes, sir."

"Why did you deposit these funds with the National Transit Co.?" "We used the National Transit Co. as a bank, and we would call for the funds whenever we wanted them."

"I notice that in 1906 the cost of the Buckeye plant is carried at $9,995,967, and the net earnings were $7,023,508 for that year. Is that correct?" "Yes, sir."

"I notice that $3,212,901 is carried on the books as an oil purchase contingent fund. Why is such a fund as that carried?" "To cover loss by shrinkage in the carrying of oil," said Mr. Chesebro.

Another suit.

Findlay, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Another case against the Standard Oil Co., brought by independent producers, was started here today in the common pleas court. The title of the case is G. H. Phelps against Standard Oil Co.

LAZIEST MAN AT WORK.

Sleeper Who Kept His Bed for 23 Years Drives a Horse and Cart.

George Thompson, the Clare man who remained in bed 23 years, and was offered by the music halls a handsome salary for appearing as the laziest man in the world, was seen in Lurgan, County Armagh, a few days ago.

During his long period of repose he only put on his clothes three times, but he had been in Lurgan once before. That was two years ago, when his home was temporarily broken up owing to his mother's illness. Thompson was then carried to the workhouse in the ambulance.

He was in charge of a horse and cart carrying coal for his landlord when he was recognized, and a chaffing crowd collected around him in High street, Lurgan. The mob for some time prevented him from performing his duties, and at last he found refuge in a shop.

MURDER SUSPECT.

Richard Walton. Is Believed to Have Killed Two Women.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The police are investigating the report that Richard Walton, the supposed murderer of Mrs. Lillian W. Grant, who was arrested yesterday in Springfield, Ill., is responsible for the death of the girl, Lizzie Schroeder, who was strangled to death near Gary, Ind., some weeks ago. It is known that Walton was working in Gary and left there about the time the murder was committed.

TRAINS COLLIDED.

Ten Persons Reported Killed and Several Injured in Wreck in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 27.—It is reported that ten persons were killed and several injured in a wreck on the Pennsylvania road, one mile west of Duncannon, Pa. A relief train was sent from Harrisburg.

The local passenger train which left here at 10:40 a.m. ran into a freight train. Details are lacking as the wires were torn down by the wreck.

THE LUSITANIA

Reached Queenstown in Five Days. Four Hours and Nineteen Minutes From New York.

Queenstown, Sept. 27. (3 a.m.)—The steamer Lusitania arrived here this morning, having made the eastward passage across the Atlantic in five days four hours and 19 minutes, at an average speed of 22 1/2 knots.

At Liverpool.

Liverpool, Sept. 27.—The Lusitania arrived here at 4 p.m., and was greeted by a large crowd.

DECISION REACHED BY THE DENTISTS

British Columbia Association Will Not Affiliate With the Dominion Dental Council

At the final session of the annual meeting held by the British Columbia Dental Association last night it was decided that the association would not affiliate with the Dominion Dental Council at present owing to certain clauses in the affiliation which were found objectionable. It was generally acknowledged that affiliation was only a matter of time, however, and the number of delegates in favor of it was considerably in excess of that at the last meeting when it was discussed. As reported in the Times yesterday, the morning session was occupied by the presentation of the case for the Dominion Dental Council, Dr. C. H. Abbott, of London, Ont., and Hon. Stanley McNicoll, president and vice-president, respectively, of the council, setting forth the advantages which would accrue from affiliation. In the evening a vote was taken upon the question, and a majority expressed themselves as opposed to the change. The election of officers concluded the business before the meeting, and resulted as follows:

President—Dr. J. M. McLaren, Vancouver.

First vice-president—Dr. William Fraser, Armstrong.

Second vice-president—Dr. J. B. Gerry, Kamloops.

Treasurer—Dr. F. P. Smith, New Westminster.

Executive—Dr. W. R. Spencer, Vancouver; Dr. H. T. Minogue, Vancouver; Dr. W. J. Hacking, New Westminster.

Vancouver was chosen as the place of meeting next year, but no date was set. It was decided, however, to hold the meeting earlier than this year if possible. During the afternoon and evening the delegates visited the exhibition, the two representatives of the Dominion Dental Council being taken to the grounds by Dr. R. Ford Verrinder in his automobile.

FUTURE OF SOUDAN.

Rumors of Administrative Changes—A London Story.

Nearly a month ago, when it was first announced that the Duke of Connaught's new appointment, besides its distinctive military character, would comprise the post of high commissioner of the Mediterranean, speculation was rife as to the precise nature of the new duties. No information on the subject has since been forthcoming, but the prevalent belief in semi-official circles of the Manchester Courier, that an extensive readjustment of posts in the Near East is contemplated. While it is not believed that anything will be done, directly or indirectly, to affect the status of Sir Eldon Gorst, the Earl of Cromer's successor as agent and consul-general in Egypt, it is persistently reported that the Sudan administration is to be thoroughly overhauled. It is said that, in the opinion of Sir Edward Grey, that province is now fit to emerge from the "swaddling clothes" stage; and, accordingly, the semi-military system under the Sirdar is to be superseded as soon as practicable by a new establishment wholly civilian in its character.

At present the British agent in Cairo exercises supreme control over the Sudan in matters of broad policy, but should effect be given to the plan with which the foreign secretary is credited, the Sudan will be placed on a practically independent footing under a separate governor-general. According to rumor, Lord Edward Cecil, the son-in-law of the late Marquis of Salisbury, is already designated for the appointment.

A good deal of surprise was expressed a few weeks ago when Lord Edward's retirement from the army was notified; but, of course, if the story now given is even approximately correct, his resignation of his commission in the Grenadier Guards loses much of its mystery. Ever since he served under Lord Kitchener as military secretary he has kept in close touch with Egypt and the Sudan, among his recent appointments being Agent-general at Khartoum, Egyptian joint-secretary for war, and more recently finance under-secretary for Egyptian finance. These changes, however, though undoubtedly on foot, are not likely to take immediate effect. Sir Reginald Wingate's term as Sirdar is nearing its close, and it is thought likely that the date when his successor is appointed will be chosen as the most suitable for carrying out the changes. Lord Kitchener—than whom, heedless to say, no man knows the Sudan and its requirements better—is said to have been consulted at every stage.

The average yield of milk from a cow is 400 gallons a year.

STEAMER OTTER IS ON DANGER REEF

Accident Occurred During a Dense Fog—Salvor Goes to Her Assistance.

Shortly before midnight yesterday, while the steamer Otter was proceeding from Ladysmith to this port with a cargo of coal, she ran on Danger reef. A dense fog prevailed at the time and navigation was difficult. Her keel was breached forward and she commenced to take in water, but by the aid of the pumps she was prevented from sinking.

Capt. Troup, general superintendent of the C. P. R. coast service, was at once notified of the occurrence, and he communicated with the B. C. Salvage Company, who dispatched the steamer Salvor to the scene. This morning the Otter was brought to the dock at Ladysmith, where the coal was removed to the steamer Trader and forwarded to this port. The Salvor will make some temporary repairs on the Otter and will convey the injured steamer to this port, where she will go one way to Esquimalt and be repaired. It is thought that she is badly damaged, as reports which have come to hand this morning say that with the aid of the pumps she will be able to make this port under her own steam.

PRESIDENT ARRIVES.

Steamer President of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, arrived in port last evening with 197 passengers. It is rumored that her place on the San Francisco-Puget Sound route will be taken by her sister vessel, the Governor, which has just arrived at the Bay City from the East. The following passengers were landed from the President at Victoria: R. Soutter, R. W. Wells, C. G. Weiler, C. P. Ford and wife, H. Thomas and wife, Geo. Armstrong, W. F. Gamboort, Jas. Murray, Dr. Donovan, Miss A. Creelman, Miss B. Creelman, John A. Douglas, Wm. W. Campbell, Lewis Thelle, C. Elliott and family, and 13 second-class.

MARINE NOTES.

Steamer La Conner, owned by the Star Steamship Company, of Tacoma, was burned to the water edge on Wednesday as she lay at anchor in the harbor of the City of Destiny. When it was found that all efforts to save her were useless, she was scuttled. The vessel was valued at $15,000, and she had on board a cargo worth $2,000, which was totally destroyed.

Steamer Lonsdale, of the Canadian Mexican Pacific Steamship Co., is expected in port on Monday. She will sail on Tuesday morning for Mexico, carrying a large cargo of lumber, which was taken on board at New Westminster.

Captain John Rinder, who has been in command of the steamer President, is regarded as likely successor to W. E. Pearce, who has resigned his position as general manager of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

Steamer City of Puebla, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, is scheduled to leave the outer wharf this evening on her way to San Francisco.

It is reported that the steamer Ramona has been purchased by C. W. Cook & Co. from the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

On her way to Skagway and way ports the steamer Princess Royal, of the C. P. R. coasting fleet, left for the North last night.

Steamer Empress of Japan will sail from Vancouver for the Orient with the overseas mail on Tuesday next.

Steamer Celtic, of the White Star line, arrived at New York from Naples on Tuesday with 1,800 passengers.

GLOVE CUSTOMS.

Some authorities assert that gloves were known in Bible times, from references made to "shoes," which were thought to be identical with gloves. The first clear account of gloves comes, however, from Xenophon. This writer speaks of the Persians wearing gloves on their hands to protect them from the cold. Homer describes Laertes working in his garden with gloves upon his hands to protect them from the thorns, and Varro mentions this apparel as being worn by the Romans.

Gloves have been tokens of solemn and important things from the ninth century. They were adopted as a rite of the church, and later the transferring of lands or titles was always attended with the presentation of gloves. In the eleventh century the method of challenging to single combat by throwing down a glove was instituted, and this custom still remains in some countries. Gloves were not worn by women until after the reformation.

MORE WINNERS AT THE EXHIBITION

Additional Prize Lists in Different Departments
—Citizens' Day Was a Grand Success at the Fair.

The most interesting exhibit at the show yesterday was the people. The diversity of interests, of physiognomy, and to the ladies of dress afforded a study. They went to see the races, the bronchos, or the exhibits, as the case may be. The majority of the people of Victoria were there, and there were practically all the countryside as well. Farmer's Day, excursionists from every point. Even Americans ahead of their time had crossed in order to see the citizens enjoying themselves.

Perhaps the most noticeable thing about the attendance was the large number of strange faces to be seen. Two things tended to make this, one was the Christian Endeavor convention being held here brought many strangers from the mainland, who took advantage of the opportunity to see the exhibition; the other was the very large increased population of the city compared with last year. There has been a steady influx from the prairies and other places that has filled up every house and room and caused a considerable building extension, and it is not until an occasion of this sort occurs that the people here just realize what a change has taken place. The strangers most live right in our midst and will very soon be strangers no longer, but the old timers will never again be able to greet everyone who attends as an acquaintance. The city has passed far beyond the infant stage, and this is where it is noticeable.

During yesterday morning Miss Laura Rose of the Guelph Agricultural college, a lady who has been on the staff of that institution a number of years, gave a demonstration on the use of the Babcock tester and on separating milk. She explained the different constituents of milk and the use of each to the body. From this she showed the wisdom of discarding poor cows and keeping only such as gave a good return in butter fat. The separator she used was the De Laval, which is handled by the B. C. Hardware Co., the demonstration being held in their stand in the main building.

In the afternoon Miss Rose gave a demonstration in butter-making. The churning was done by hand and seemed hard work. As one gentleman remarked, a motor would be the right thing to turn the churn, thus saving much labor. Everything was shown so simply and clearly that it was impossible not to follow her method if any attention was given. The resulting butter looked most cool and tempting, with the result that people hurried across for a cup of tea with one of the ladies' societies in the tents on the opposite side of the grounds.

Weller Bros.
This year there is no children's exhibit, but anyone who is interested in house furnishing should not fail to climb the stairs where they will be amply rewarded for their trouble by being enabled to inspect a fine display of carpets hung there by Weller Bros. Further comment is needless. This firm's work is so well known that any eulogy would fall flat.

B. C. Hardware.
The B. C. Hardware Company handles the Lorain Ranges. The range is the one article of furniture which really affects the whole household. Given a good cooking apparatus and a good cook and the household is at peace, but once try to cook good food with a poor range and it is spoiled with the result that the family feel unwell and are ill-tempered. To avoid all this see that the range ordered is a Lorain, a name which stands for all that is best.

David Spencer, Ltd.
The cultured person takes pride in her drawing-room. The floor is the final test of superiority. Many people have attended the fair simply for the purpose of inspecting the drawing-room furnished by David Spencer, Ltd. Description is useless. No one can describe the best taste. It must be seen to be appreciated. The lady who wishes to inform herself concerning what is the best in drawing-room furniture will make a study of the above mentioned exhibit.

E. G. Prior & Co.
There is a standard in everything. The standard for buggies and farm machinery is set by E. G. Prior & Co. who have been dealing with the farmers of British Columbia for so many years that they have got to be looked upon as the standard. Their prices are always reasonable considering the quality of the goods they supply. At the fair they have some of their latest machinery and most up-to-date rigs which should be examined carefully by those wishing to learn or to buy.

Watson & McGregor.
Watson & McGregor have a little corner in the main building of the fair to which the best people go to learn about the heating of their houses. The furnace which they install is one that keeps the house just comfortably warm all winter. It can be regulated to suit and there is neither dust nor any other inconvenience. The economy of this method of heating is the great feature which the firm are impressing on their prospective customers, and also the feature which the users of the furnace are telling their friends.

Fletcher Bros.
Much favorable comment has been bestowed on the splendid showing of violins, mandolins, guitars, phonographs and other small musical instruments shown at Fletcher Bros' exhibit at the fair this week.

This enterprising firm now import direct from the manufacturers in Europe, thereby eliminating all middle men's profits and enabling them to sell a better grade of instruments at lower prices than any other music house in British Columbia.

Capewell Company.
A rather unique little exhibit was that of the Capewell Horse Nail Company which aims to provide the best possible nail with which to shoe horses. The firm gives away finger rings made from horse nails.

Baby Show.
The judges at the baby show were L. A. Manley, J. M. Guardhouse and R. H. Taber. No local judges could be persuaded to act so the thanks of the community is due to these gentlemen for preventing the disappointment which would have followed if the show should have had to be called off. The judges had not the courage of their convictions for they simply wrote the names of the winner on a piece of paper and slunk away before the decisions were announced. The winner of the first prize was Pussie Tyndall, a very fine specimen of humanity in miniature with Baby Fernwood, second.

Juvenile Exhibitors.
The two Lang boys have each their hobbies, and they ride them well. The elder boy, J. L. brought his brown leg-horn chickens to the fair and carried off three first, three second, and two third prizes. This is a splendid record for a small back yard poultry farm.

His brother Willie makes a specialty of pigeons. His Jacobins have been the admiration of all visitors, while the dragons and homers were also among the prize winners. He took two firsts, two seconds and three thirds with pigeons from his loft.

Exhibition Notes.
The Ataris experimental farm has an exhibit of nuts which shows what might be done in that direction. They are in bottles all along the top of the exhibit.

The Cowichan creamery took first prize for butter. Victoria creamery came second. Among the dairies Mrs. J. W. Brethour of Sidney, took the first in pound prints, and Mrs. Watt secured two firsts and a third for her butter.

The china painting of Miss Edith J. Cooper has been very much admired. There are a number of the articles for sale, and they certainly would be a valuable addition to a drawing room.

Ensilage corn of the finest kind was shown in small quantities upstairs. The first prize winner is J. Heatherbell, of Colwood. It is not quite as long as the competing sample, but compares very favorably in weight.

Mrs. D. R. Harris showed a very dainty parasol in the ladies department, worked with ribbon work. It took the first prize in that class.

The entries in bread were very large. People are still interested in eating more than in anything else.

In the previous mention of the Jersey, the fine bull shown by J. Heatherbell which took first prize, was omitted by mistake. There was not room for this splendid animal in the cattle stalls, so he was placed over in one of the pig pens. Anyone interested in cattle should not fail to see him.

The children's exhibit this year is small, but what there is of it is very good. It is in one corner of the ladies' department.

The art displays of three of the local photographers is well worthy of notice. The exhibit of Skene Lowe was not for competition, but it shows some splendid portrait work, good enough for anything. The medal went to Savannah, and it was well deserving, for the winner gave a great deal of study to the pictorial art side of his work. His portrait of Hon. William Templeman is probably the best picture in the show. Foxall has some very excellent pictures and much of it is of the kind which appeals to the popular taste. The ordinary person does not care for the classic pose.

A hedge fence of three spike acacia by Mr. Wellwood on behalf of a new company which has been formed for the purpose of raising it, was the subject of much favorable comment. Hedges are the thing in British Columbia, and it is just as well to plant a good one as something ordinary.

Hutchison Brothers won the only prize offered for motors in the show.

The prize is a bronze medal and the motor is a Victoria made article. Patronize home industry is always a good motto, especially when it is even better than the imported. Summer Girl is fitted with a motor of this description, and all the launches of this firm's make have everything about them home-made. A small two and a half horse power motor of theirs is very cheap, and it can do a lot of work. This firm is taking everything over to New Westminster to show the people there what Victoria can do.

THE BOHEMIAN

FOR OCTOBER

The American readers of current literature are quick to discover a "good thing." Every month the demand for THE BOHEMIAN at the news-stands in this city has been growing. Why?

It radiates entertainment. A look into it will rout a smile from the ambush of the gloomiest countenance and will brighten a mind weary with following the beaten paths of magazine literature.

For THE BOHEMIAN is "different." It is so compounded of snappy, unusual short stories, enjoyable humor, attractive portraits, anecdotes of persons of note, with clever drawings, and sparkling, illustrated special articles of the out-of-the-way kind, that the result is a delightful and peerless entertainer.

Trade Talks—The Printer.

Here, as in other trades, the picturesque printer—the drawing fellow that smoked a cornob at work and never arrived Monday because of a 3-day spree, has passed. The man of this old type spent at least one-third of his time "on the road," was ultra-Bohemian in his tastes and really couldn't have fitted into modern conditions—even if the linotype machine had not inexorably wrenched out the workdays. Among trades that of the printer has many prominent points. It is a semi-intellectual. The printer has the brain stimulus of the professional man—and the uniform wages of the mechanic. This combination counts for much, in a country where more and more young men, as some one wittily put it, "are working for half price just for the privilege of wearing a white collar." From Benjamin Franklin down to the present time, great men, politicians and writers, have graduated from the printer's case to the editorial sanctum and then onward. These possibilities are no longer in this era of specialization, but as a trade proposition that of the printer was never more worthy of serious consideration by the young man of today.

The pay asked by printers, open shop or otherwise, runs from $10.00 to $25.00 depending on the branch. The average apprenticeship runs 3 or 4 years, starting at $4.00 or $5.00 weekly, but so prompt is the appreciation and so searching the "make good" test, that very few printers have to complain of being "kept down." Now as to demand and supply. Newspaper offices have a great many openings for the right kind of men, though they are slightly more exacting and require quicker wits than the average commercial printer. For the well-trained, up-to-date printer, whether he be a linotype machine operator, hand setter of ads, or artistic make-up man, the demand has never ceased and the growth of the country indicates that we are "print-mad" and as long as there is printer's ink and white paper, the man who can combine them on the printed sheet will be a great power for good.

Unlike other trades, the great centralization has not hurt the job printer in business for himself though the prices asked of him are away beneath par. The average town has from a dozen to a hundred small shops wherein comfortable livelihoods are made.

In this trade, above all others, the young printer will learn that steadiness is the key of success. There are so many emergencies that arise—the necessity of doing a day's work in a few hours—that the old-fashioned printer of Bohemian tendencies cannot long remain in favor, while the man who is always "on his job" is marked for success. Modern methods have disposed of the proverbial grime about a printer's office and the work is now comparatively clean.

Municipal bonds—totally different from government bonds—are cheaper now than they have been for five years—the demand is less and of course, the price asked is lower.

A few years ago city bonds paid the investor only 3 p. c.; now they offer 4 p. c. New York city bonds have attained a wide and popular appeal because they can be had in denominations as low as ten dollars—whereas the usual price is $500.00 to $1,000.

What bonds to invest in? You can answer that by securing a schedule of the bonds purchased by your best local savings bank. They know and their choice may well be yours. Never touch the bond of a town that depends solely on one industry for in these days of trusts, plants are often moved and thriving towns ruined.

AN OLD FAMILY SERVANT.

Once, on the occasion of a large dinner party in London, the conscientious butler observed that one of the members of the family, a young girl who had but recently entered society, was devoting an amount of attention to her agreeable neighbor on the right, obviously in excess of that accorded to the less fascinating man on her left. This fact perturbed the butler to a degree that could no longer be borne in silence. So, under pretense of passing the culprit a dish the butler managed to whisper respectfully in her ear:

"A little more conversation to the left, miss."—London Telegraph.

Nothing venture—nothing doing.

Men Successful, But Not Great.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

"Morgan has retired from Wall street," say the bulletins, just as if such a course were possible to such a hardened campaigner. Still J. Pierpont Morgan has now rounded the seventy mark and finds the art of finding money slightly incompatible with the art of finding art in the museums and highways of Europe. And by the way, the art of "finding" money has been the reason of the rise of the house of Morgan in the financial world.

"Morgan's office," said an old Wall street man, "is a financial hospital. You go around there after a flurry or a panic and you will find the 'paper' of about every house in the street that has been in trouble. Morgan has long been the surgeon, medic, and 'uncle' of the street."

Mr. Morgan began his business career in 1850—he was then twenty-two years of age and is now over seventy—as a bank clerk in New York city. For ten years he remained in comparative obscurity, first as a salaried employee and later as a broker doing business in a very small way. In 1860 he attracted universal attention by taking hold of the reorganization of a railroad which had been wrecked by bad management, and in a short time putting it firmly upon its feet again. From that date until quite recently, he has been one of the most brilliant financiers the world has ever seen.

This success was based on a method that was then new in financial circles and in which he took the initiative. This was a system of combination and consolidation, which has now taken the concrete form of trusts. He is therefore the father of the trust idea and during his career has taken a hand at more kinds of industrial, financial and transportation games than any living man except possibly John D. Rockefeller. To indicate their extent, he has been the physician and nurse to every one of the greater combinations—with perhaps but two exceptions. Standard Oil and the sugar trust.

Mr. Morgan is perhaps the most cultivated of all American millionaires, but the ordinary observer would hardly note his presence, for to the world he is brusque and domineering to the extent of absolute vulgarity. In person he presents a striking figure even at the age of seventy. He towers arrogant; his voice usually harsh, rasping and nerve racking. His one weakness is perhaps clothes—and the English tailors of Regent street keep him attired in glaring waistcoats. He has done however, much to dispel the foreign idea of the millionaire's vulgarity. His millions are being spent on art objects that go to enrich the Metropolitan Museum of art; he owns six costly libraries and reads their contents!

One peculiar thing about Morgan's business principles may with profit be ascribed

Seven Room Gambrel Roof Cottage,

Designed by Chas. S. Sedgwick, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

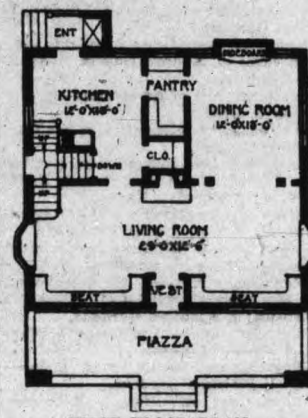

The construction of a gambrel roof is not new, but was in common use in Colonial days. The snug compactness of such a roof, the rigidity of the construction and the economy in the use of materials has brought it increasingly into common use during the past ten years. Such a roof and treatment requires more over-hanging foliage and trees than some others. Set in such surroundings, it makes a very pretty and artistic appearance. It is undoubtedly more graceful and artistic in its outline to the eye than the straight and regular lines of the upright two story structure.

The design that we are illustrating is 30 ft. 8 in. in width by 36 ft. 8 in. in depth over the front piazza. The feature of the interior of this house is the large living room across the front which is 12 ft. 6 in. by 29 ft. long. This may at first seem to be a very long narrow room, but treated as it is with the best fire place in the center opposite the vestibule entrance and wide columned archway opening into the dining room on the right and a staircase leading up on the left, the room is certainly very beautiful. The main piazza across the front which is 9 ft. wide is underneath the main roof, the second story being carried out over the piazza, thus affording more floor space in the second story.

There are four chambers, each provided with ample closets and a large bathroom and linen closet on the second floor. The woodwork of this story is finished in pine, painted or enameled, with polished floor. The first story is finished throughout in Washington fir, stained and varnished, floor of quartered oak.

The front piazza is built with stone wall carried around the outside and the centre filled with earth and gravel, concreted and cemented over, the walls built of cement blocks for one story in height the second story gables finished in half timber and cement in the panel on expanded metal lathing. With the gray tint of cement in the first story, the woodwork will look exceedingly well if painted white or a very light salmon tint and the shingles on the roof dark green. Plans have been furnished for this house built of entire frame structure and shingled in the first story and also for pressed brick and cut stone in the first story.

Invest Your Savings—Bonds of a City.

In former talks on bond investments, the value of the municipal bond was but lightly touched upon, but this inattention indicates no disparagement of a bond that really comes closer to the average man than any other sort of investment. If a citizen puts his money in a municipal bond he knows that he will receive a two-fold benefit. For instance, the loan of that money in the aggregate is helping the city to build a sewer, erect a great public building or pave a street,—and he is sharing in a city's betterment, not forgetting the very material fact that he is drawing interest on his money.

The Government bond has been cried from the houseposts to be the safest investment on earth—it pays, however, a very small rate of interest—and for that reason offers little inducement for the investor. The second step in this ladder of stability is held by the municipal bond—or a city's promise to pay—which is the nearest approach to it.

No city, however rich, is above the constant need of borrowing money, and like corporations it must borrow it by the bond method. Unlike railroad and corporation bonds the city does not have to stoop to mortgaging municipal property to secure its indebtedness. It offers instead, its civic reputation (which has never yet been repudiated) and the taxes upon the property within its limits. City bonds also have this important advantage—they are absolutely exempt from taxation as long as the owner lives in the state which contains the city issuing the bonds.

American cities are so sturdy and resilient that the greatest calamity does not affect the interest and value of municipal bonds. Even the graft and extravagance of politicians seem impossible to impair them. In the case of Galveston, wiped out by flood, there was a slight reduction of interest for five years, which bondholders gladly volunteered; in San Francisco, the earthquake caused not the slightest hitch in bond payments.

Municipal bonds are of as wide interest to the ordinary citizen as the investor, for in most cases the "sinking fund" that is created to pay for them had a very tangible place in the tax lists. Eventually every issue, usually of many

Articles for Women Who Travel.

BY BEATRICE CAREY.

The woman who delights in giving little gifts can make no mistake if they assume the shape of some little travelling convenience of her own making.

Anyone who likes dainty things will be more than pleased to receive a little convenience for her travelling bag known as a traveler's housewife. It should be made large enough to hold needles, thread, and other articles of the sort that are an absolute necessity on a long journey, yet of convenient size to slip into a niche in the travelling bag or suit case. It is made of a piece of ribbon twelve inches long by six wide, or of a piece of heavy silk of the same dimensions. Neatly seam up the sides, turn down the top edges to form a casing, then slip a piece of whalebone of the proper length into the casing and sew up the openings. The article, when finished, is a flat bag, which opens when opposite ends are pressed together, the whalebone acting as a spring.

A gift for one to whom a powder puff is an essential, but who finds the transportation of a puff box impractical is a little side of one piece with colored silk, and one side of the second piece with chambray skin. Join the two discs by overcasting them together with embroidery silk of the same shade as the silk covering.

Now cut out a piece of the silk, eighteen inches long and six inches wide. Turn down a half-inch casing at the top and join the ends by stitching. Gather and sew neatly to the disc, silk sides outward, and run narrow ribbon through the casing. In this bag put a good supply of talcum and a powder puff. A mattress pin cushion to hold stick pins, clasp pins, etc., is another very useful device. The cushion is about six inches by four in size; in shape it is just what its name implies, a miniature mattress, tufts and all. Use the heaviest quality of satin of any preferred color and employ carded wool to stuff it.

A very pretty and useful sachet pad is shown in the sketch. It was made of two little circles of linen, stuffed with raw cotton dusted with sachet powder, then sewed together. This was then edged with fine white lace which formed a ruffle. A five-petaled flower was cut from fine white linen and was buttonholed about the edge with light pink embroidery silk. Then a smaller flower was cut out, similar in shape to the large one, and buttonholed in the same way. On this a center of brown silk was embroidered, as illustrated. The flower was sewn to the linen pad, and the sachet was ready to be used.

This pad would also be very acceptable as a prize for a birthday or card party. A gift that is made by the donor is always more appreciated by the person for whom it is intended than one which merely represents an expenditure of money. This latter lacks the element of personality which a homemade gift has.

Salads for Summertime.

Tomato Salad—One quart of ripe tomatoes, squeezed through a sieve and heated on the stove. Dissolve one-quarter of a box of gelatin in a little water, add to the tomatoes, and cook well for a few minutes; remove from the fire and mold in small coffee cups; a little chopped cabbage or celery gives a good appearance. Serve on lettuce leaf with a spoonful of dressing on top, and garnish with chopped celery. Make the dressing as follows:—One-half pint of vinegar, a tablespoonful of butter, the same of sugar, and also of mustard, a little salt and pepper, the yolks of four eggs or two whole eggs, the whole being cooked well in a double boiler.

Lobster Salad—Put a large lobster over the fire in slightly salted boiling water; boil rapidly for about 20 minutes. When cold crack the claws, after first disjoining them; twist off the head (which is used in garnishing), split the body in two lengthwise, pick out the meat in bits not too fine, keeping the coral apart; break up a large head of lettuce and place on a dish, over which lay the lobster, putting the coral around the outside. For dressing take the yolks of three eggs, beat well and add four teaspoonfuls of salad oil, dropping it in very slowly, beating all the time. Then add a little salt, paprika pepper, half a teaspoonful of mixed mustard and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar; pour this over the lobster just before sending to the table.

Stuffed Tomato Salad—Peel medium sized tomatoes, and after scooping a small piece from the top, scrape out all the seeds. Cut in half just half as many hard-boiled eggs as there are tomatoes, and remove the yolks from the whites. Rub these yolks to a powder, and add chopped lettuce, mixing all together with the mayonnaise dressing. Now stuff the tomatoes with this mixture, and put a spoonful of mayonnaise on top of each one. Place two or three lettuce leaves on each plate, and a stuffed tomato on top of them. Cup the whites of the eggs into rings, and each ring in half, and place the tomato so as to form a flower.

Inexpensive Summer Frocks.

BY DOROTHY DALE

Very tempting bargains in dress materials and trimmings have been offered for several weeks past in the larger shops, and although midsummer every year brings reductions of this materials, as the spring and early summer this season were so remarkably cool, diaphanous fabrics designed for warm weather wear were early reduced in price as a special inducement to buyers.

It is a pity that summer weather has been so late in coming, as never before have there been more charming or desirable warm weather materials to be had. A clever woman can dress well at comparatively small expenditure if her costumes are well designed, and especially if she is able to do simple embroidery and braiding, her gowns can be given an air of marked distinction if she is willing to put a few hours extra time on this hand work.

Take for example the frock sketched in the cut to the left of the large plate. This gown cost altogether about three dollars including trimmings, the material being a heavy white linen finish cotton which comes at fifteen cents a yard. Ten yards are required to make the frock as pictured, the skirt being cut in a many-pored circular with an applied tucked band just above the hem. The skirt can be either walking length or long, as desired.

The bodice was cut out back and front to show a yoke of very fine batiste embroidery to match. White soutache trim was used to form the design which trimmed the bodice, the center of the flower forms in the design being cut out and then filled in with a fancy lace fishnet which comes for the purpose. This soutache braiding can be put on very quickly, and is much easier than any sort of embroidery. This braiding is most seen this season on a great many materials and is especially liked for linen and heavy cotton fabrics.

The young girl's frock shown in the same

Inexpensive Summer Frocks.

Gingham Frock for Young Girl.

drawing was sketched from a model in blue and white plaid gingham of the kind which is known as "Aik" gingham. Bands of plain blue linen of a darker shade were used as trimming, the yoke and deep sleeve cuffs being of sheer open English embroidery. The upper part of the undersleeves was of fine lawn.

The effect of darker bands on light-colored gowns is very fashionable, and some very smart looking frocks have bands of taffeta or silk muslin in black, or other dark color in harmony with the material, as sole trimming, with the exception, of course, of a little fine lace for the yoke and undersleeves. This idea should appeal to the woman whose dress allowance is limited, as this band trimming is very inexpensive when compared to insertions of lace, and other such trimmings usually considered necessary.

A gown trimmed in this way with bands of dark blue taffeta was recently designed for wear at one of the fashionable resorts. A light Wedgewood blue and white quarter-inch stripe in sheer cotton voile was the material chosen, the bodice having a straight kimono sleeve and a surplice front and back, the edges of which were finished with an inch and a half band of dark blue taffeta. Four rings buttonholed in dark blue silk and criss-crossed in a spider web were placed slanting along the surplice crossing of the front, three of these rings with silk loops being used across the top of each sleeve. The yoke was of allover German Valenciennes with a band of Chantilly beading down the middle. This beading was threaded with a narrow blue velvet ribbon which was tied in a stiff little bow at the foot of the collar. The sleeves were of white net covered with Valenciennes ruffles put on to form a point down the center of the outer arm.

The skirt was laid in fine plaits about the hips and was trimmed with two taffeta bands, the lowest band being placed at the bottom and the second about five inches above.

The small costume sketch shows a novel trimming for a frock of plain colored

Artistic Handmade Portieres.

BY BEATRICE CAREY.

For the summer home, instead of buying costly curtains of silk or brocade, very effective and graceful curtains of grass cloth or arras, may be made by hand, even by comparatively inexperienced needlewomen. These materials are quite inexpensive, and can be had in any desired colorings. The soft, dull greens, browns and coppers are among the most popular shades, though the curtains made from tan or deep cream fabric, with the designs in contrasting colors, are excellent.

The curtains should be cut full enough to hang in straight, graceful folds, and finished with a ten-inch hem and casing wide enough to run easily on a rod. If both sides are to be exposed, as when used between two rooms, the curtains should be double.

Conventional perforated stencils may be bought at any of the up-to-date art stores for stamping at home, or the linen itself, stamped and ready to apply, can be secured. This linen applique decoration is one of the new styles recently brought out, and makes a very attractive trimmings.

After the linen to be appliqued has been stamped it is then dampened, ironed and basted to the curtain. The edges are neatly and firmly overcast to prevent fraying and later worked with a long and short buttonhole stitch.

Wide latitude in decoration and color scheme is allowed in this work. A very charming portiere seen recently was of soft green-colored burial, with an iris design in shades of purple, with touches of golden yellow. Several shades of dull olive were used for the stems and foliage, couched with unobtainable gold thread.

Embroidered Linen Pocket-Book.

Linen is coming more and more into favor as a material for small articles, and calendars, desk sets, purses, bags, and many other such things are seen in the art needlework stores and their popularity is due to its strength and its neat and fresh appearance. A design for a linen pocketbook is shown in the drawing, which might very easily be carried out by the home worker at small cost, white linen being used as material. The pocketbook was embroidered with white embroidery cotton in a trefoil pattern, round dots also being set on at regular intervals. A double line of the embroidery cotton formed the border.

Another style of pocketbook is an exact copy of the popular strap pocketbook, with a handle on the back, which may be slipped over the finger. When finished it should be seven inches wide and four and a quarter deep. The strips should be about twelve inches long to bring this size when finished. The strips are folded up much like an envelope with the turned over flap coming to within an inch of the bottom of the pocket. The foundation for the purse is made of heavy white canvas, cut just like the linen covering except for the flap.

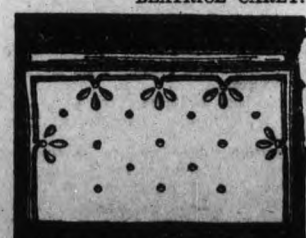

The stitched handle was made of canvas, covered with the linen, and was sewed to the back of the purse. If a monogram has not been used on the flap, the owner's initials may be embroidered in small letters gingham or linen, in the use of underlaid bands of plaid or check material and buttons to match. The model frock was in light green chambray gingham, with a gay little plaid in white, red and green in combination. The yoke and deep cuffs were of sheer white lawn and embroidered with one deep applied tuck of the plain green gingham, piped with a half inch fold of the plaid.

Savory Spring Lamb Recipes.

Baked Lamb Chops—Beat and trim the chops, roll each one in beaten egg and then in dried bread crumbs. Put them in the dripping pan with a small lump of butter on each one; set in the oven, and as they brown baste every few minutes with boiling water and a little butter. When hot brown sprinkle with pepper and salt; thicken the gravy left in the pan by adding browned flour; pour over the chops and serve.

Peppers Stuffed with Lamb—Cut a piece from the stem end of the peppers and remove the seeds; cover with boiling water and let stand for ten minutes; drain and fill with the chopped meat. Place in a baking pan, add a cupful of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for three-quarters of an hour. One pint of chopped meat is enough for ten peppers.

Mutton Scallop—If the meat is tender cut into thin slices; if not, it will be better to chop it fine. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Put a layer of meat in a buttered pan, then one of the tomatoes, continuing until the pan is full the top layer being tomatoes. Bake in a pan for half an hour. Serve hot, with baked potatoes.

SILICA BRICK WORKS AT PARSON'S BRIDGE

SILICA BRICKS are fast becoming known all over the Coast. Amongst other orders, the following have been booked, and the output of the plant has been contracted ahead for nearly six months.

David Spencer Building, Vancouver.....1,000,000
St. Joseph's Hospital Addition, Victoria.....600,000
Brackman & Ker Building, Victoria.....80,000

The first named order will require 80 cars with a capacity of 12,500 bricks each to transport same to Vancouver.

In and around the works, there are nearly 20 men employed, and, within twelve months, when the plant will be doubled and a large Hydrated Lime Plant in operation, there will be nearly, if not quite, double the number employed.

This is the first plant of its kind erected in British Columbia, and when the Hydrated Lime Plant is installed, it will be the only one of its kind in Western Canada.

Sand Lime Bricks were introduced into Germany in 1882, by Dr. Michaelis, and now there are in operation over 200 plants, and over 150 in the United States.

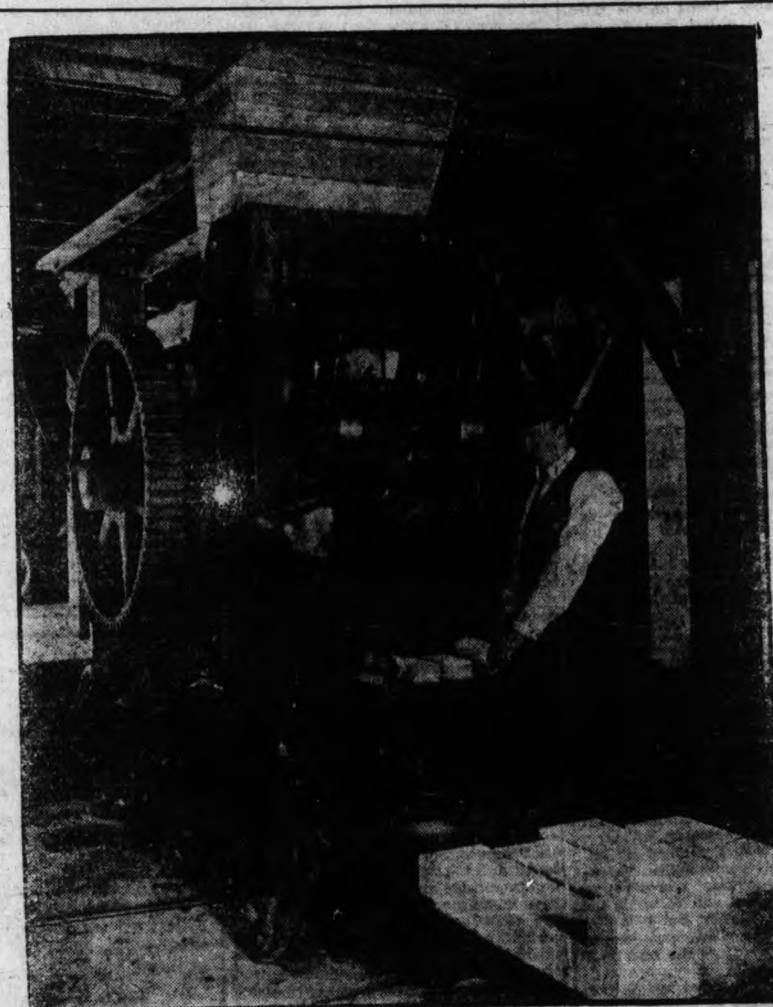

One of the Directors has recently examined the bricks made in a number of the eastern factories, and reports that the bricks being turned out here are the best he has seen in his travels.

With the foregoing figures before us, who can say that Victoria is behind the times.

PINCH AND THE MATRIMONIAL AGENCY

Potty entered and glanced round en-
quiringly. Ginger Bates, with closed
eyes and face screwed up, was making
circles in the air with a pin over the
list of runners in the next day's big
race. With a jab of the pin he impaled a name and turned to the betting.

"Ugh," he grunted, "a 'undred to
seven against, rotten!"
Bill Jones, dealing firmly with two
eggs, eyed him with amusement, and
made unceremoniously comparisons between Ginger, Old Moore and Mother Shipton.
"Seen Pinch lately?" demanded Potty.
"No," replied Tom, "he ain't been 'ere
a week."

Potty seated himself, examined Bill's
eggs, and promptly issued an order for
something different.
"D'you remember 'im sayin' that
'e'd been 'done' last time we saw 'im,"
he said to Bill, "just as I wuz called
away?"

"Yes," said Bill.
"I s'pose 'e didn't say no more about
it?"

"No; sed it could wait till we wuz all
together again."
"H'm, rum; wonder what it could
'ave been?"
"Dunno; there's such a lot o' ways a
man can be 'done' nowadays."

The door was open, and a soft warm
air blew in, drawing comment from Bill.
"There's somethin' about the air at
night you never seem to get in daytime. A night like this allus seems to remind me of when I wuz a kid, and
lived in the country."

"Potty entered and glanced round en-
quiringly. Ginger Bates, with closed
eyes and face screwed up, was making
circles in the air with a pin over the
list of runners in the next day's big
race. With a jab of the pin he im-
paled a name and turned to the bet-
ting."

"Ugh," he grunted, "a 'undred to
seven against, rotten!"
Bill Jones, dealing firmly with two
eggs, eyed him with amusement, and
made unceremoniously comparisons between Ginger, Old Moore and Mother Shipton.
"Seen Pinch lately?" demanded Potty.
"No," replied Tom, "he ain't been 'ere
a week."

Potty seated himself, examined Bill's
eggs, and promptly issued an order for
something different.
"D'you remember 'im sayin' that
'e'd been 'done' last time we saw 'im,"
he said to Bill, "just as I wuz called
away?"

"Yes," said Bill.
"I s'pose 'e didn't say no more about
it?"

"No; sed it could wait till we wuz all
together again."
"H'm, rum; wonder what it could
'ave been?"
"Dunno; there's such a lot o' ways a
man can be 'done' nowadays."

The door was open, and a soft warm
air blew in, drawing comment from Bill.
"There's somethin' about the air at
night you never seem to get in day-
time. A night like this allus seems to remind me of when I wuz a kid, and
lived in the country."

then I dressed an' went downstairs, fair disgusted. I'd only been in bed about two hours. Mrs. Timbs wuz in the ber-chen. "Mrs. Timbs," ses I, "wot's 'appened nex' door?" Mrs. Timbs looked nervous when I spoke. "Please," she ses, "I can't 'elp it. There's a planner teacher took the 'ouse, an' so far as I can make out 'e's going to give lessons all day long."

"'Is 'e' said I. Then, Mrs. Timbs, you 'an me mus' part. I work 'ard 'n night an' I ain't going to 'ave my rest spoil by no bloomin' music teacher, not
if 'e wuz two teachers rosted into one.
Mrs. Timbs you kin look out for a new lodger, as soon as yer like."

"'Wery well,' ses she; 'I'm wery sorry, but I can't do nuthin' in the matter.'"

"'Course you can't,' ses I. 'I ain't blamin' you, not in the least, but—'
"No," ses she, "I should think not."
"Taint my fault if a cranky old man gets a conscience that won't let 'im
sleep through a little noise."

"'Meanin' me?' ses I.
"Yes," ses she.

"'That's done it,' ses I. 'I'll shift as soon as I can.' With that I went out of the place to think it over; I strolled
over to the Embankment an' sat down on one o' the seats there. To tell yer
the truth, I wuz a bit sorry I'd acted
so 'asty, 'cause I wuz wery comfortable with Mrs. Timbs. She wuz a widder, an' I must say 'er 'usband 'ad trained
'er wery well. There wuz a newspaper
lyin' on one end o' the seat. I picked it up an' 'ad a look, an' of a sudden got
a reg'lar shock, like-as if a big light
'ad bin struck in my eyes. It wuz an advertisement done it. 'Marriages arranged on commission,' it sed, givin' an address in the Strand. I made a bee-line fer the place. 'Twuz on the third floor. There wuz a boy in the office.
'I've come about this,' ses I, showin' 'im
the paper. 'Right, sir,' ses 'e, 'this way, and 'e showed me into a wery
nice room. There wuz no one there, so I sat down an' wiped my face. I felt very 'ot. Presenly a chap comes in,
man about forty. 'Good-mornin'!" ses
I. 'Wot kin I do for you?' ses 'e. 'Trot
'em out,' ses I. 'Trot 'em out.' 'E laughed an' sed, 'There will be a little formality fust.' 'Wot's that?' ses I. 'A guinea,' ses 'e. Well, I paid it like a lamb. Then he went into perticlers.
Sed a few somethings about ladies with titles an' no spondulicks; come down to beautiful gals with no spondulicks; an'
mentioned a few round an' charmin' ('s words) widwers, also with no spon-dulicks. I never sed a word, an' presenly 'e began to talk sense. Widder of a publican, fat but wery pleasant. Middle-aged spinster with annoity—religion, an' setry. 'An' setry, finally 'e
mentioned a widder lady in privy life,
once a cook, wanted to meet man with affectionate disposition in fairly good circs.

"'Right-o,' ses I, 'trot 'er out.' 'E
'adn't got 'er on the premises, an' we fixed that I should call nex' day, an'
'ave a look at 'er."

"I went back 'ome rather excited.
Mrs. Timbs, when she brought my tea, wuz wery 'aughty an' cold. The tea wuz cold too; 'owever, I didn't grumble. I jus' thought of wot I'd be like shortly, with a nice sensible woman sit-tin' down to keep me company at every meal, an' to fill the cup as I emptied it."

"'Well, nex' mornin' I spruced myself up a bit, shoved a flower in my button-hole, an' went out lookin' a reg'lar
don. Eleven o'clock wuz the time fixed.
I mooched about a bit, feelin' once or twice as if I'd like to back out, then telling myself I'd see it through; faint faintly, an' setry, an' setry. Come eleven o'clock I plucked up an' marched into the bloomin' office. 'Mornin'!" ses the boy, grinnin' like a young whelp. 'She's come,' ses 'e, 'she's inside.' 'Look 'ere, sonny,' ses I, 'oldin'
up 'alf a quid. 'Is there any way o'
gettin' a look at 'er afore she sees me?'"

"And it over," ses 'e.
"I gave 'im the 'alf-James, an' 'e took me round a passage to another fir.
'There's the key-hole,' ses 'e; 'you kin
see 'er through that.' There 'e left me.
Well, I knelt down an' squinted through the key-hole. She wuz talkin' to the agent. Directly I saw 'er face
I unknuck-bunked for my life."

The old man paused and chuckled.
The others waited impatiently.
"Wot's the joke, yer ally old joeser?"
demanded Bill; "wot wuz the matter
with 'er face?"

"'Er face wuz right enough," replied Pinch; "'er face wuz all right—
only she wuz Mrs. Timbs."

"Pinch's solemn tones stuck his hearers as humors. They wuz moved to mirth for a minute, gradually subside-
ing before the old man's injured face.

"Well, it suitably was a cop, Pinch.
Wot did yer do?" asked Bill Jones.
"I never went back that day. Come night, I went to the yard as usual, an'
took the 'ol nag out. I thought it over that night—that was the night I told yer all that I'd bin done."

He paused, looking, if the conception
is possible, bashful.
"Well," demanded Potty.
"Nex' mornin', when I got in, I went straight through to the kitchen. 'Twuz
'alf-past seven, but Mrs. Timbs wuz already busy. 'Mrs. Timbs,' ses I, 'I ain't much on good looks, but yer know me, an' I asks yer, fair an' square, will ye marry me?' and she says, 'Mr. Lake, you've got a good heart, I will.'"

Three mouths 'ere wuz agape, and an unusual gleam shone in the eyes of Old Pinch as he embraced the others
in a genial glance.

"I 'ope you'll all come to the weddin'!"
he concluded.

"We will," said the three.

BUYING WIVES.

In many parts of Russia wives are still obtained by purchase, says a contemporary. Just as they are among the kaffirs of Africa and other races whom Russians deem uncivilized. Among the latter a pretty girl will fetch about $50
as a rule. If she belong to a well-to-do family she is worth more—anything from $50 to $100. In some cases the price runs much higher. But in the poorer villages the lowest sums for which a wife may be had is $25. In these cases there is usually, however,
much to be desired in respect of health,

THE STRUGGLE FOR SUCCESS

Have you ever realized how much more difficult it is to get to the top of the tree now-a-days than it used to be?
How often does one hear the toll-worn
business man complain that competition
is so much fiercer, that life is taken at
so much greater a pace, that men are becoming so much more restless, concentrated, and tense than used to be the often has the boy, going out into the world, eager and ambitious, been discourage because he finds it so much harder to get on than his father did!
It is the keynote of modern life—this terrible stress and strain upon us as we try to climb upwards.

Everything must be done at the highest possible tension. We dare not relax
for a moment for fear of being left behind for ever in the race and being caullessly pushed aside among life's failures. We must get from one place to another by trains and automobiles and vessels more speedy every year. We must be able to communicate with our friends and clients by contrivances instantly quicker than post or telegraph.
We are forced to live at express rate,
at a tension that never yields, that has no mercy and allows no rest. And so life whirls on, and as its strain grows
every year greater and greater, so to succeed becomes more and more difficult, and that crowd of the exhausted,
cull, and that crowd of the exhausted,
addressing the beaten grows daily larger. Remember, too, that under these conditions success has to be paid for, sometimes in dire coin. Only this week comes the news that the greatest of modern inventors, Edison, is lying dangerously ill at his mother's house in Ohio, his nerves overstrained by exhaustion. A few days ago we learned that America's greatest lawyer, the secretary of state, Elihu Root, was undergoing treatment for nervous breakdown on a country farm. We know that Mr. Chamberlain's illness was the immediate result of the anxiety and strain of the war years. We know that the retirement of both Lord Milner and Lord Cromer was due to overwork.
These men had succeeded, they had done great things. Surely the strain of life might be slackened for them! But the strain of life cannot slacken, the tension cannot give. Twenty years ago
such words as "nervous breakdown,"
"rest cure," "over-exhaustion" were little known. Now they have passed into common speech. That is a sign of the times. Fewer can climb to the top of the ladder, and those who do must inevitably suffer for their success. That seems to be the law of human life today.

One result of this increased competition is that success is longer in life
when it does come. The time has passed when a Pitt could be First Minister of the Crown at twenty-four. Our statesmen of to-day are white-haired men in the sixties and seventies.
Thirty years ago a man of fifty was held to have reached the zenith of his career. Now, at that age, he is only held to be beginning it.

What has brought about this terrible rush of modern life? Chiefly the fact that education has levelled down class distinction. In the days when the line between the upper and lower classes was rigidly drawn, no member of the one ever dreamed of attempting to do the work of the other. To the one belonged politics, the church, national defence, diplomacy, letters; to the other trade and manual labor. Now
those distinctions have been cast aside.
Education has reduced us more and more to a level, and a working man's son may become a member of parliament just as the son of a country squire
may manage a great establishment in Oxford street. For each position of trust or responsibility there are a hundred capable candidates to-day where twenty years ago there were two or three. Thus competition becomes keener because men are less exclusive and better educated. There are so many men now-a-days of good average capabilities—strong, honest, and conscientious—that it is correspondingly
more difficult for the man who is above
the average to find his opportunity and make his mark. He is swamped by the number of his competitors, and unless he be gifted with exceptional stamina
and powers of endurance he will fall down exhausted before his hour of triumph arrives.

You know that the tension of life has reached this point. You feel helpless to propose a remedy. That rush and strain must continue and tighten until men adapt themselves to it in successive generations, as plants are gradually acclimated to a new climate. But is it a cause for depression or despair? The more men are overwhelmingly successful, the more there are of tragic failures. In a world where it seems harder to clamber out ahead of your fellows
just because there are so many who are averagely gifted, averagely prosperous,
you may be sure that there is less misery, and less grinding poverty. A dozen millionaires implies a million beggars. Better a world of average incomes and more widespread comfort
such as our world is tending to become to-day! Better that—and ever better—for the wives and children who have to be supported even if the strain to maintain things at the point of average comfort be desperately hard, and even if those brilliant dreams and ambitions
of youth have to be sorrowfully put aside.—London Weekly Dispatch.

WHERE DRINK PREVAILS.

"There is more drunkenness in Great Britain than in the United States" declared Dr. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka, Kas., the author of "In His Steps," as he sailed for New York from Southampton. "It is not that the people here drink more, but they consume spirits largely, while Americans chiefly take beer. I counted 125 drunken persons in Durham in an hour. Glasgow and Edinburgh are bad, too, far worse than London. Indeed, there has been an improvement in London since

GREAT NAVAL TEST.

Channel, Atlantic and Home Fleets
Will Take Part in Manoeuvres.

The naval manoeuvres which will take place in the North Sea, off the coast of Scotland during October will bring together for combined exercises
the Channel, Atlantic and Home fleets,
with their attendant cruiser squadrons
and destroyer flotillas, in all about 67
large and about 50 small craft. These exercises, which will be largely tactical,
form part of the regular war training
of the fleets. Lord Charles Beresford will be in supreme command, and under his orders will be 11 flag officers, commanding various divisions. The Channel, Home and Atlantic fleets form the home guard. In the event of war with a northern European power,
their duties would be to defend the Channel and the waters adjacent to the British Isles. In the event of a war with a southern European power, the Atlantic fleet would support the Mediterranean fleet. The exercises in October, therefore, will partake of the nature of a test of the arrangements for home defence, and will serve to familiarize the officers commanding the various squadrons with the handling of a large number of ships in waters
where shipping is fairly thick.

QUARREL BETWEEN CAPITALS.

A foolish conflict has arisen, or rather recurred, between Vienna and Buda Pesth in connection with the addresses of letters from Hungarian authorities.
The Vienna municipal authorities, the London Times says, have issued an order instructing all municipal offices to retain suspended letters from Hungarian authorities that are addressed with the word "Becs," the Hungarian name for Vienna, instead of the German name, "Wien." This is a reprisal against the Hungarian practice of returning letters and parcels addressed to the German names of Hungarian cities.

Conservative Buyers!

Conservative buyers are in nine cases out of ten readers of advertisements, and two-thirds of the remaining tenth are influenced by popularity of a firm, and advertising is a sure road to popularity. Any way one is pleased to regard advertising, the proof that it pays in every form of mercantile endeavor is plentifully at hand. To believe that your particular case is an exception to the rule is a deliberate blinding of yourself to the possibilities of your business—a neglect to gain the best return from the capital you have invested.

A Serious Question.

A persistent bad cold will run into consumption unless it is relieved in time. So it is with the little daily wants of the people—they grow serious if not promptly filled. You can afford, for instance, to have that house tenanted for a little while, but when it continues tenanted month after month it becomes a serious matter. The timely "want" ad. ends the trouble.

VISIT THIS BIG FURNITURE STORE

Don't Fail to Visit This Interesting Store

IF YOU HAVEN'T VISITED US AS YET, we want you to come in this afternoon, or to-morrow. If you have been here, come again and take another look. New things are being unpacked almost every minute. You cannot see everything in a few minutes.
We do not look for you to purchase anything: pleased to have the pleasure of showing you a shop of which we are proud. You'll be pleased with it and the display of "Quality" goods found in it.

You want Good Furniture for your home, not flimsy, cheap "stuff," that soon falls to pieces. It is mighty poor policy to get the latter sort, unless you want a frequent change of furnishings. Buy your every Furniture need at this store, where every member of the firm offers you the use of a life's experience in this single business. Don't take our word for the superior quality of our goods and the lowness of the prices, but come in and compare them for yourself. We are satisfied to leave it with you.

Toilet Sets-- Fall's Fetching Conceptions

In the light of present high
art shaping and ornamenting
of toilet ware, the sets of ten years ago are horrible to contemplate.

Recollect the wide colored bands with gold lines on the ugly shapes that were considered fashionable in those days?

We open this closed book
that you may better appreciate the advances made in potting in a decade. It has been a marvelous progress.

Sets to harmonize with any decorative color-schemes or room furnishings are now on show.

Glad to show them.

See Our Very Latest Arrivals in Lace Curtains

A Word to Visiting Housekeepers

Strangers in the city are invited to make a tour of inspection
through this establishment.

Every artistic housekeeper will see beautiful pieces that she would like to own and there are innumerable special offerings to be profited by.

If purchases are decided upon
we have facilities for safe packing
to go any distance—but, every visitor is welcome to come and just look.

Come in and feel at home.

The Fall Showing of Fancy Plates

Never in the history of this store have we shown so many styles of fancy plates
or so many pretty designs costing little.

In fact, some of them cost
so absurdly little that you can indulge yourself without extravagance.

And then you needn't be afraid of breaking them.

The prices don't begin to correspond to their real value.

In dozens or single pieces.
Then there are the finer grades, made by potters to European royalty. You'll manage to own some of handsome new patterns, we dare say.

Better Take Home One of These Novelties

Something You Cannot Procure in Your Own Town

Luckily a big shipment of novelties in the Furniture way, such as Pipe Racks, Foot Rests, Plate Racks, Magazine Stands, Book Holders, etc., in Weathered Oak have just arrived. We are pleased to have these here at this time, because there are many things in the collection you cannot find in your town.

There is a charm and elegance about these pieces that is irresistible. They are out-of-the-ordinary creations that reflect great credit on the hand that fashioned them.

These odd and novel pieces are useful as well as ornamental—they are serviceable. There are many quaint styles among the lot—just the thing you want to complete the "Den."

The Finest China Store in the Country

This is without doubt the best China Store in the Province. There is gathered here a great variety of good things in China and Glass. The dainty creations of the Wedgwood potteries, the charming Arendfeldt Limoges China, the wares of Doulton and all the best makers you'll find here in plenty.

The large direct importations enable us to make the prices interesting on this superior merchandise.
In Cut Glass we also have the best—The famous Libby Cut Glass. Better see this glass in the "Sparkle Box," a fine, large, brilliantly lighted room built especially for the purpose.
